Twenty-four Named For Civic Contest Breaches of Law Cause Sewer Explosions In City Beside the St. Lawrence

Nominations For Eight Seats At City Hall Filed

Mayorality Contest Settled As Two-man Fight Between Mayor Leeming and E. B. Andros, With No Other Names Advanced

Late Entrant In Aldermanic Race

Eighteen Seek Five Council Seats But Only Four Stand For Three Vacancies on School Board

Candidates in the civic election race turned into the home stretch to-day as nomination papers were filed with the returning officer at the City Hall prior to election day next Thursday.

The addition of one last-minute candidate brought the total of those seeking the eight vacant offices to twenty-four. William H. Sargent, unsuccessful mayorality candidate of last year, was the late entrant and is this year seeking aldermanic honors.

Eighteen of the twenty-four candidates are running for five seats on the council. Mayor Leeming and E. B. Andros are the only nominees for the mayorality.

With three vacant seats on the school board there are only four contestants. The retiring members are standing for re-election with one new candidate.

Polling will take place next Thursday at the market place. With 11,469 names on the list, one of the largest in the city's history is anticipated owing to the keen interest already displayed in the election.

Following is the official nomination list:

TREATY WILL SHOW GAINS

C. M. Croft Says Full Benefit of New Zealand Pact Felt After Depression

Thinks Recovery Will Be Rapid and Trade Lost Will Ultimately Be Regained

Confidently expressing the conviction that Canada and New Zealand will gain the full benefit of the trade treaty concluded this summer when the economic depression loses its strangle hold on the world, Carmen M. Croft, Canadian trade commissioner to New Zealand, arrived in the city 40-day en route from Ottawa to Auckland.

"The effects of the treaty signed on May 24 were seen immediately by increased sales of Canadian products to New Zealand, but the full benefits of the pact will be felt after the depression is over," said Mr. Croft in an interview this morning.

"We cannot expect to get back to the trade level of 1929 until there is an improvement in general conditions," he added.

Straight Fight For Mayoralty

MAYOR DAVID LEEMING

E. B. ANDROS

When nominations for civic office closed to-day a two-man contest for the 1932 mayoralty was assured. Mayor Leeming is completing his first one-year term and previously served as an alderman. Mr. Andros sat on the council for a number of years prior to 1924.

Peace River People Protest Barring of Trelle At Chicago

World Wheat Champion Prevented By New Rule From Competing in Wheat at International Show For Four Years

Canadian Press

Members, Mr. Dec. 1.—I have lots to say, but none of it for publication.

This was the comment of Herman Trelle, four times winner of the world wheat growing championship, when informed by the Canadian Press that a new ruling of the Chicago International Hay and Grain show had the effect of barring him from contesting there for the world title again until 1936 at least.

"Regardless of this new rule," Mr. Trelle continued, "the Wembley district will continue to be a big winner at the international show."

Competition rules have barred Mr. Trelle from Saskatchewan and Alberta provincial fairs and the latest announcement leaves the famous grower in effect for four years from competition with world growers.

Residents of the Peace River district are frate over the ruling, feeling it is unfair to force Mr. Trelle to those aside the work of years.

Mr. Trelle's wheat triumph at this year's Chicago show was announced Tuesday.

The ruling was made by the international show management yesterday.

Besides Mr. Trelle, it bars Mrs. E. Maycock of Milford, Ont., who for three years has annexed the blue ribbon for the champion sample of navy beans.

M. B. Finkert, superintendent of the show, stated the new rule was to encourage and give new and green exhibitors a better chance to score in the larger prizes.

POUND AGAIN SHOWS GAIN

British Currency Stronger in World Market; Canadian Dollar Up in U.S.

Closing exchange rates were quoted by Canadian Press to-day as follows:

Pound sterling, in Montreal, $3.75.

U.S. dollar in Montreal, $1.16.

AT NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 1.—Continuing its advance on the foreign exchange market here to-day, the pound sterling closed 2 1/2% higher at $3.23 for cables.

The Canadian dollar, in sympathy with sterling, ended the day 3/4% stronger at 86¢ (United States premium of 16% per cent).

Both currencies were strong. The pound registered a spectacular advance of almost 6% yesterday.

IN LONDON

London, Dec. 1.—Sterling improved sharply on the exchange market in London on early covering operations to-day, but sagged toward the end, when support slackened. It reached $3.24 during the early afternoon, but closed at $3.23 1/2.

The highest level was 8c above the low point for the week.

STOCK MARKET

London, Dec. 1.—Business slackened somewhat to-day on the stock exchange here, although a good tone prevailed in the forenoon. Gilt-edged securities advanced on the improvement in sterling exchange and gold mining issues and industrials were also supported. The market eased from the best owing to selling in Paris.

The closing was dull.

PLAN TO SPEED U.S. BEER BILL

Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 1.—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, to-day promised speedy action on prohibition repeal and beer measures if and when such legislation reaches the United States senate after the House of Representatives action.

Population Grows On Pier Island

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 1.—Thirty Doukhobor women from Oakalla Prison Farm left Vancouver to-day for Pier Island, north of Saanich Peninsula, where they will serve the balance of three-year terms for nude parading.

The plan, he continued, was formulated by Mrs. M. Warren, president of a Toronto electrical manufacturing concern. He said it called for all employers to hire quotas of unemployed men and women and to pay them $15 a week.

He suggested that if industries should need money, which would be the case during the first few weeks, "an appeal could be made for the money which is now being spent on direct relief."

Reeve MacDonald read a letter from Robert Macdonald, president of the Canadian Press, which commended the plan and said Babson intended to forward its promotion in the United States.

APPROVED BY COMMISSIONER

He said also the plan had been commended by A. W. Laver, Toronto relief commissioner. Mr. Laver told the Canadian Press he had examined the scheme, and described it as the first workable concrete scheme for relief on unemployment he had seen.

He declined to discuss the plan further, however, maintaining it was extremely complicated in structure.

He said, however, that A. H. Wilford, a Toronto citizen, had collaborated with Mrs. Warren in working out some of the phases of the scheme.

Neither Mrs. Warren nor Mr. Wilford could be reached.

Will Foxgloves Come Under Ban

Duncan Grower Queries Following Edict Against Poppy and Wants to Know Where There Is a Free Country.

A Duncan seed grower being informed of the ban on cultivation of the poppy, has written to a government official as follows:

"I have quite a few foxgloves in my garden. They are, I believe, the source of digitalis. And digitalis is a poison. Am I guilty of an offence against the Poison Act?"

"If the notice about poppies is correct, I can no longer delight my eyes with a red poppy bloom because some degenerate uses morphine of opium, which is extracted from poppies. For the same reason I can not sell any plants of this insidious species to a horticulturist."

"Can you tell me of a free country to live in where I can have a drink without being regarded as a criminal or look at a game warden without being accused of insulting the Lord's Anointed, and grow a poppy without incurring the charge of being a dope peddler?"

The letter has been forwarded to the R.C.M.P. for reply.

LULU ISLAND SCENE OF FIRE

Brighouse, B.C., Dec. 1.—Fire destroyed the winery and adjoining residence of George W. Rathbun on No. 18 Road yesterday evening. The loss, estimated at $5,000, is partly covered by insurance. The blaze occurred while members of the family were absent. A considerable quantity of wine was on the premises.

RELIEF MEN GO ON STRIKE

Workless in Nanaimo and District Protest to the Government

Scale of Allowances Denounced: Men Submit Own Scheme

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Dec. 1.—Relief workers of Nanaimo and all outside districts went on strike to-day, as a protest against reductions in relief allowances recently ordered by the provincial government. About 850 men are stated to be on strike.

Following a mass meeting of unemployed held here this morning, a party of about 400 men and women marched to the courthouse, where they presented a series of demands to C. L. Monroe, government agent. The parade was orderly, but while awaiting a reply from the government the crowd shouted in union: "We want adequate winter relief and we protest against military camps."

The demands submitted were: Payment of $15 weekly for man and wife, with $4 additional for each child, "the same as for Doukhobor children" and an allowance of $9 weekly to single men.

A resolution strongly protested the government's policy of sending single men to relief camps, when they could be kept at home without the overhead cost involved in maintenance of the government's camps.

The strong protests registered by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities were also endorsed by the unemployed.

Mr. Monroe telephoned the demands to the special unemployment committee of the provincial government. He reported to the strike strikers that he had been told the demand could not be discussed over the telephone, but if submitted to the government in writing they would be considered.

The unemployed thanked Mr. Monroe for his efforts and then marched to the city hall, where they presented similar resolutions and demands.

During the interval required for communication with the government several speakers severely criticized the provincial government as inefficient.

Peden's Partner Is Out Of Race

New York, Dec. 1.—Returning from Moscow, Mrs. Mary Mooney, aged mother of Tom Mooney, California convict, has been refused a visa to enter England by the British consulate in Berlin.

The Montrealer previously had suffered several spills. The Canadian team, a strong favorite, were in seventh position, having covered 1,580 miles and three laps at the eighty-ninth hour.

Harry Hagan, Union City, also a victim of a split, retired from the grind shortly before 3 o'clock and his partner, Fred Spencer, and Peden teamed up. The new team was forced to take the standing of the lower, that of Andy-Peden, and took up the grind six laps behind the leaders.

COACH-BUILDING CONTEST FOR BOYS OF VICTORIA

Winner in British Columbia Competition to Get $100 in Gold and Trip to Chicago Fair, While Boys Who Win in Two Classes in National Contest Will Each Receive $5,000 University Scholarship.

Boys in Victoria are to have an opportunity of competing for two $5,000 university scholarships and many other valuable prizes, including one of $100 in gold and a trip to the world exhibition in Chicago next year.

The Victoria Daily Times will publish in its Saturday edition the first of a series of lessons in a coach-building contest, which has been prepared by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild and on Thursday next, the second lesson will appear.

The Times is sponsoring this contest, in which 50,000 boys are expected to compete and 885,000 will be given away in prizes, with a view to developing some fine craftsmen in Victoria.

The models completed by Victoria boys will first compete in a provincial competition for which a number of cash prizes will be given and the winners will be sent east to compete against the winners from all other provinces for the national award. There will

Gasoline and Oils Poured Into Drain Pipes Blamed By Officials For Series of Terrifying Blasts Under Montreal Streets

Squads of Men Put to Work to Repair Sewer and Gas Pipes Wrecked When Large Part of Populace Greatly Alarmed

Canadian Press

Montreal, Dec. 1.—In fractions of by-laws prohibiting gasoline and other combustible materials being poured into the sewers caused yesterday evening's sewer explosion in Montreal and also those of two months ago in the same district, city officials indicated to-day.

There was no doubt, it was stated, that gasoline or kerosene had caused the explosions and subsequent fires.

While the manholes and sewers chiefly affected were too hot to-day for men to go down them to investigate, surface tests made by engineers showed gasoline or fuel fumes were present even to-day.

FRIGHTENED 100,000

Into those sewers it was safe to enter, swarms of workmen came to-day descended to check damage caused in the series of deafening detonations yesterday evening, when gas mains also were wrecked.

More than 100,000 people living in that dense portion of the city centring around St. Denis Street North, were terrified as scores of the explosions threw manhole covers into the air, crumbled a three-story house into ruins, destroyed a gasoline station and inflicted injuries on twelve people, seven of whom required overnight hospital treatment.

As daylight streamed over the scene, it was found damage to the streets (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

Australia Speeds Up In Grain Race

Already 119 Vessels Have Been Chartered, Including Sailing Craft, Says Dispatch

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 1.—Australia is preparing for the largest and most spectacular grain race in years. This is indicated in the announcement that 119 vessels have already been chartered, many of them destined for United Kingdom ports, says The New York Times to-day in a special cable from Adelaide, Australia.

"In South Australia many sailing boats are among the vessels chartered. Ninety-five boats already chartered in other states will carry about 67,000 tons of wheat, and the list is extending as the season advances. The charters arranged comprise ninety booked for Britain, twenty-four for Shanghai, four for Calcutta and one for Hankow," says The Times dispatch.

"South Australia is ready to ship a record harvest, now estimated at 53,000,000 bushels, of which 1,125,000 tons will be available for overseas export. The twenty-four vessels, including eighteen sailing boats, already chartered in the state can carry only one-tenth of the exportable quantity."

"Seventy per cent of the ships chartered in Australia are British. Vessels chartered in western Australia number twenty-four, in New South Wales twenty-eight and in Victoria ten," says the dispatch.

"The first big shipment from South Australia will be made in mid-December, but because of the cool weather Victoria is unlikely to ship until late in December or early in January. The annual race of the windjamers from Australia to Britain around Cape Horn with the Australian wheat crop is decided on a land-to-land basis, the sailing ship making the fastest time being adjudged the winner no matter when it finishes. The vessels thus race not only to beat the shipments from other wheat-producing countries, but against each other."

Five Nova Scotians Are Killed In Mine

Men Asphyxiated By After-damp; Seventeen Others in Coal Pit Near River Hebert Escape After Explosion

Canadian Press

River Hebert, N.S., Dec. 1.—After-damp, dread scourge of mine workers, claimed the lives of five men to-day on the lower level of Maple Leaf, No. 4, colliery, two miles from this town.

Seventeen others who were working in the mine when the gas exploded escaped uninjured to the surface.

The victims, four of whom were married, were:

Erna Murray, twenty-three, single, star pitcher of the River Hebert baseball team.

William Haslie, Joggins, N.S., married and the father of six children.

Charles Lebrack, Amherst, married, two children.

Henry Leblanc, River Hebert, married, one child.

Daniel Boudreau, Joggins, married, one child.

BODIES UNMARKED

The five bodies were recovered by a rescue crew organized after the explosion. They bore no marks of injury and mine officials said they believed the men had been overcome by after-damp.

While there was no official report on the explosion, a number of miners stated it had been caused by sparks from a motor. A fan belt had broken and caused the motor to splutter.

The belt had been repaired by William Haslie, and when the motor was restarted again a spark ignited the accumulation of gas in the pit. Hundreds gathered around the pit-head while the bodies were being raised to the surface. Tearful women and children, relatives of the dead men, surrounded the entrance and pathetic scenes were enacted as they recognized the bodies.

HUMAN INTEREST BONDS MAKE JOBS

The Victoria office of the Employment Service of Canada is strongly supporting the campaign to advance the sale of Human Interest Bonds. The success of this system of subscribing towards unemployment relief is expected to increase the number of jobs available for part-time employment of men and women.

"The prosperity of our city is linked closely with the prosperity of its peoples and the welfare of employers with that of employees. All should buy Human Interest Bonds, not only because it is good policy, but to advance the human interest of the city," said an official of the bureau.

Washington Studies British Debt Note

Document of 6,000 Words Delivered To-day By Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 1.—Poring over a 6,000-word note from Great Britain, President Hoover and his Secretaries of State and Treasury, Henry L. Stimson and Ogden L. Mills, deliberated to-day as to what should be the next war debts move of the United States.

The document was carried to the White House by Secretary Stimson immediately after it had been delivered to him at his home this morning by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador.

President Hoover at once called in Secretary Mills, who has worked with him closely throughout the difficult negotiations, and after an hour with the President.

CITY ENGINEER SERIOUSLY ILL

F. M. Preston Rushed to Hospital Early To-day; Still Unconscious

Frank M. Preston, Victoria city engineer, was rushed to hospital at 4 o'clock this morning in an unconscious condition and was reported to be dangerously ill this afternoon.

Dr. Hermann Robertson, his physician, gave no further details of Mr. Preston's illness, although it was stated he had not improved by this afternoon, and was still unconscious.

His condition, said the doctor, was dangerous. It would not be possible to say what might happen within the next twenty-four hours.

Mr. Preston is in the Jubilee Hospital.

Canadian Farm-bred Youths Lead Return Of Natives From U.S.

Of 10,472 Who Came Back to Homeland in April-September Period, 1,434 Settled in British Columbia

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Dec. 1.—A few years ago, whether in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec or old Ontario, it was a common sight in the summer months to see parked in the barnyard of the old homestead a gleaming new car bearing United States license plates. It was the young folk who had ventured forth to the land of milk and honey to seek their fortunes now returned to tell the people what a success they had made of it.

During last summer—the same car, perhaps a little battered and laden down with household goods, quite often turned into the old homestead, but with a tale of hard times and of failure that brought them back to shelter beneath the roof tree where they were born.

Many of these young adventurers had gone south to escape the drudgery of farm life and a good many of them will go back when conditions improve, but at present they are glad enough to take a hand at the chores, and even middle-aged business men find they are not forgotten how to swing an axe.

RETURN FLOW ABATES
With this in mind the Canadian Press has been making inquiries as to repatriation from the United States. While the maxim that periods of acute economic distress have always been accompanied by a landward movement is undoubtedly reflected in the ultimate distribution of the returning Canadians, it is surprising to find only 10,472 Canadians returned from the United States during the six-month period ended September 30, 1932, as compared with 56,937 for the full twelve-month period of 1927, the highest figure touched since records were first collected.

Since 1927 the total has declined year by year and as the last six months constituted the busiest period of the year for the influx of prodigals, it is not expected the total for the full year will exceed 20,000.

Of the 10,472 returned Canadians for the six-month period under review, 2,188 settled in the Maritime Provinces, 2,494 in Quebec, 3,573 in Ontario, 783 in the prairie provinces and 1,434 in British Columbia.

MOSTLY FARM PEOPLE
What percentage of that number returned to the land is indefinite as few particulars are asked of the prodigals returning to their native country. In this respect, however, a survey made at the border port of Windsor, Ont., is interesting.

It was determined from questioning 27,084 returning Canadians that 42 per cent were born on farms in Canada, 34 per cent had actual farm experience and 29 per cent were returning with the fixed intention of engaging in agricultural pursuits.

An official of the department unofficially expressed the opinion the percentage of those who would return to the land would be much higher if word to the west and east of Windsor were taken into consideration.

This appears to have been the case in the Maritime Provinces, where vacant farms have been taken up quickly. Government officials report many of the new farmers are natives of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, who returned from the United States during the last year or so.

Across Canada, bank managers report hundreds of Canadians who opened accounts with Canadian banks when United States funds were at a high premium have followed their money across the line.

CHICAGO CORN HONORS TO BOY

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Bernard Defore, sixteen, of Converse, Ind., yesterday was named 1932 corn prince at the International Livestock Exposition and Hay and Grain Show.

Apparently he decided the only way to get quick results would be to remove from the disarming discussions such dangerous political matters as that of security against aggression and that of equality in armaments.

Indications are he succeeded in negotiating a sort of truce in the discussion of these matters.

Although this week's meeting, if it succeeds, may mean only slight reductions, plans already are under way to create the mechanism by means of which progressive reductions would be possible.

It is believed any agreement reached at Geneva is likely to be extended later to include Japan, Russia and Germany.

Paris, Dec. 1.—An agreement for reduction of armaments is the main object of a five-power conference to be held at Geneva at the end of this week, according to information here.

If the discussion is successful it will mean virtually a sort of truce in the engagement to bring about curtailment not only of war materials but also of man power.

Kornan Davis, United States representative, has been driving quietly toward this tangible goal in his conversations with the British, German and Italian representatives at Geneva and with Premier Edouard Herriot here.

WATERWAY PACT IS SUPPORTED

Spokesman for Businessmen of Lake Michigan States Appears Before U.S. Senate

Associated Press
Washington, Dec. 1.—Ratification of the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty with Canada was urged on a United States Senate foreign relations subcommittee yesterday by a spokesman for the businessmen of several states bordering Lake Michigan.

J. G. Bukema, secretary of the Michigan, Mich. Chamber of Commerce and representative of chambers of commerce in other Michigan cities, asked the committee to approve the treaty in order to "restore the economic parity between Michigan and the coastal states that existed prior to the building of the Panama Canal."

Speaking also in behalf of the chambers of commerce of St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Lansing, Manistee, Traverse City, Saginaw, Bay City, South Haven, Grand Haven and Battle Creek, Bukema listed other reasons for ratification of the treaty.

He contended the opening of a deep water channel from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic would "convert Michigan's 16,024 miles of lake shore line into sea coast."

"Construction of the seaway," he said, "is a simple act of justice to Michigan and other Midwest states whose competitive relationship with the Atlantic seaboard in respect to world markets and our own Pacific Coast markets was not adjusted by the building of the Panama Canal and the subsequent increases in rail and freight rates."

Hitler Stated To Be Much Misunderstood

Canadian Press
Toronto, Dec. 1.—The man to whom Germany must look to lead her from a maze of economic entanglements is Adolf Hitler, in the opinion of Ernst Heilemann, artist who painted a portrait of Pope Pius ten years ago.

Herr Heilemann, visiting Toronto for a few days, says that not only is the National Socialist leader misunderstood, but is falsely branded as a potential wrecker of the Fatherland and a self-seeker of gain.

Adolf Hitler, he declares, proclaims National Socialism in its truest sense—a strong national policy for Germany, a new order in the social scheme that will lead Germany to financial stability and prosperity. There can be no half-way marks, no compromise with Hitler. He believes in himself and the growing strength of his followers, says Herr Heilemann.

Arms Reduction Is Conferees' Objective

Paris, Dec. 1.—An agreement for reduction of armaments is the main object of a five-power conference to be held at Geneva at the end of this week, according to information here.

If the discussion is successful it will mean virtually a sort of truce in the engagement to bring about curtailment not only of war materials but also of man power.

Kornan Davis, United States representative, has been driving quietly toward this tangible goal in his conversations with the British, German and Italian representatives at Geneva and with Premier Edouard Herriot here.

Apparently he decided the only way to get quick results would be to remove from the disarming discussions such dangerous political matters as that of security against aggression and that of equality in armaments.

Indications are he succeeded in negotiating a sort of truce in the discussion of these matters.

Although this week's meeting, if it succeeds, may mean only slight reductions, plans already are under way to create the mechanism by means of which progressive reductions would be possible.

It is believed any agreement reached at Geneva is likely to be extended later to include Japan, Russia and Germany.

FORD'S ILLNESS IS RARE CASE

Surgeon Tells of Discovery; Says Patient's Recovery Amazingly Rapid

Associated Press
Detroit, Dec. 1.—Henry Ford's illness, at first believed to be a simple strangulated femoral hernia, coupled with an infected appendix, has proved to be a case rare in medical annals—but the patient is convalescing with "amazing" rapidity just the same.

Dr. Roy D. McClure, who performed the operation last Saturday, has revealed that the incision disclosed a gangrenous appendix which had become strangulated in the hernial sac, a case so rare he could find no more than twenty comparable instances in literature of the profession.

So remarkable has been the patient's recovery, according to the doctor, that he was out of bed for a few moments Sunday.

NEW CARDINALS THOUGHT LIKELY

Associated Press
Vatican City, Dec. 1.—Several circumstances regarded as significant have revived discussion of the possibility Pope Pius may call a consistory for the creation of cardinals before Christmas.

One such circumstance was that Archbishop J. M. R. Villeneuve of Quebec, who is considered certain to resign the post, said soon after his audience with the Pontiff two weeks ago that instead of leaving Italy early next month as he had planned he would not leave until the end of December.

Another incident was that Archbishop Celso Constantini, apostolic delegate to China, has left there for Rome. It is reported he will be made cardinal prefect of the organization for propagation of the faith.

SUGGEST PRINCE AS GOVERNOR

Canadian Press
Melbourne, Australia, Dec. 1.—The Bill Posters' Union of Australia wants the Prince of Wales to be the next Governor-General of the Commonwealth. The union is urging the Labor Party to propose him as next incumbent of the office. The union states the prince is a bona fide trade unionist, having been appointed a life member of the Bill Posters' Union in 1926.

The present Governor-General, Rt. Hon. Sir Isaac Alfred Isaac, was appointed last year following a lengthy legal career in Australia which culminated in his being chief justice of Australia.

FUNERAL DRIVERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Funeral processions in Chicago were threatened with a dearth of drivers to-day when the livery car chauffeurs' union called out its members on strike.

The union leaders asserted they could tie up funerals, but undertakers announced they had plenty of equipment to carry on the usual services.

The cause of the walkout was failure of the union and undertakers to agree on a new wage contract to succeed that which expired last April 30. Negotiations have been proceeding since without any break in the deadlock.

The union asked the old scale of $42 a week for funeral drivers and the undertakers suggested $37.50.

INDIANA MAN WINS CORN PRIZE

Chicago, Dec. 1.—C. E. Troyer of La Fontaine, Indiana, was crowned king of corn at the International Livestock Exposition here yesterday. His sample of yellow dent corn was placed above those of eight regional contestants.

The runner-up was another Hoosier, E. M. Vogler of Hope, Ind., who showed samples of white dent from agricultural region seven.

Troyer is forty-six. He grew his winning sample of his 200-acre farm, where he has farmed since 1911 and where he grew samples which won for him the same honor in 1920 and 1927.

The re-crowned king had a yield of 101 bushels to the acre with his winning grain as compared with the thirty-seven-bushel average for the

WANTED A MAGICIAN FOR RELIEF BUDGETING

When a married man and his wife contemplate a relief allowance of $17.50 a month on which to provide food, shelter, clothing, fuel, and light they must turn green with envy when they think of the care and comfort bestowed upon a single man, an inmate of the penitentiary, or an incarcerated Doukhobor.

Minister of Finance Jones says the limit the Dominion and the province can contribute in respect of unemployed married persons is an allowance of nine dollars a month for food for the head of the family, three and one-half dollars for a second adult, and in the case of a child an additional allowance of two and one-half dollars, and a shelter and clothing allowance not exceeding five dollars. There is a total of twenty dollars to sustain a man and his wife and one child.

Let any intelligent man or woman sit down for a moment and try to draw up a budget for three people showing how twenty dollars would keep them in food, shelter, clothing, fuel, and light—all the bare necessities of life—for thirty-one days. It is really a job for a magician. Where, we should like to know, is there any sort of rooming accommodation in Victoria suitable for three or even two people that could be obtained for five dollars a month? It is not necessary to include the clothing item in this speculation.

But what of the single men? They are taken care of in camps; they are given adequate food and shelter, and do not have to worry while they are there. Apart from camp chores they are free to take it easy. It is far from a gay life for the single men; but compared with the lot of a man and wife and a child it has less terrors.

In discussing this matter, The Vancouver Daily Province notes the report of the warden of the penitentiary at St. Vincent de Paul, near Montreal, where a revolt took place recently supposedly because the prisoners were not satisfied with their food. The warden gave a sample menu for a week as follows:

Sunday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, coffee with milk and sugar, and bread. Dinner: Pork and beef ragout, brown gravy, brown potatoes, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Boiled eggs, peanut butter, ginger cake, tea with sugar, and bread.

Monday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Fried beef liver and onions, mashed potatoes, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Assorted tea biscuits, molasses, tea with sugar, and bread.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Pork and beans, cabbage, carrots, cabbage, potatoes, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Bologna sausage, raspberry jam, French mustard, tea with sugar, and bread.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Fried pork sausages, cabbage, mashed potatoes, sweet pickles, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Apple stew, drop cakes, tea with sugar, and bread.

Thursday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Boiled pork and beef dinner, parsnips, carrots, cabbage, potatoes, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Stewed pears, biscuits, tea with sugar, and bread.

Friday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Pork and beans, vinegar, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Corn syrup, buttered toast, tea with sugar, and bread.

Saturday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, tea with sugar, and bread. Dinner: Irish pie, boiled potatoes, tea with sugar, and bread. Supper: Sliced corned beef, mustard, stewed prunes, tea with sugar, and bread.

Dieticians will agree that the fare at St. Vincent de Paul is not bad at all; and there is no shelter, clothing, or fuel to worry about. The people who are comfortably housed at Pier Island doing penance for their theatrical displays in the neighborhood of Nelson no doubt are getting just as good a fare; but it would be quite different if twelve dollars and fifty cents had to be stretched to meet the food requirements of a Doukhobor man and wife for thirty-one days.

Mr. Jones says the sum of $17.50 can be increased by the municipalities if they so desire; but that is the limit of the amount the Dominion and province will contribute. The municipalities will now await with interest an explanation from Mr. Jones how any more money can be wrung out of the taxpayers' pockets for this or any other purpose.

THERE ARE FUNNIER THINGS THAN FUNNY NOSES

A few days ago a talented young St. Louis chemical engineer committed suicide—chiefly because people could not let him forget that he had an uncommonly big nose.

Like Cyrano de Bergerac, the lad had a nose that made people stop, look and titter. Unlike Cyrano, he never was able to find an effective way of silencing them. So, finally, remarking that he "feared the world but not death," he killed himself.

And the whole story makes one wonder anew just why it is that the human race has in it those streaks of heartlessness. This boy was not, by a good many millions, the first human being to go through life with a grotesque physical handicap, and he will not be the last; and everyone afflicted as he was knows that the hardest part of a thing like that is not the affliction itself but the cruel way in which other people will insist on calling attention to it.

You can watch the workings of this bit of savagery on any playground or schoolyard—for it begins early. Let a child appear in, let us say, an unduly worn and patched pair of breeches or in a coat which is over large and out of style, and you will quickly discover how the other children will remind him of his deficiency. It is often the same if he stutters, or suffers from crossed eyes or an unsightly birthmark; the others will not let him forget for a minute that he is different, and the amount of suffering that is sometimes caused in such a case is enough to make an angel weep.

Well, children are thoughtless; what can you expect? The disheartening thing is to discover that grown-ups can be cruel in precisely the same way.

There seems to be in human nature some hard instinct—quite, very likely, dates back to the time when we all swung by our tails—whereby we can not tolerate anyone who is unlike ourselves. That instinct is one of the things a man must outgrow before he has any right to call himself civilized.

But perhaps if the young engineer of St. Louis had been aware of a few historical facts about unusual noses he would have abandoned his lethal intent. Some very famous people have been disfigured in this way. J. Pierpont Morgan, father of the present head of the great New York financial house—"Morgan the Magnificent"—developed an ailment which enlarged his nasal protuberance to an extraordinary degree, at the same time giving to it most of the colors of the rainbow. It is no secret that this grim, potent master of finance was very sensitive over his disfigurement, and vainly harassed all the resources of medical science in an effort to counteract it. He lived until he was nearly eighty years of age—and he lived very fully, if ruthlessly.

After all, if the Morgan nose was no thing of beauty, the Morgan hair remained faithful to the end; which is more than can be said for the Rockefeller hair, even though the Rockefeller nose has retained its pristine color and proportions. It is too bad that the young man from St. Louis did not realize that there are funnier things about many people than even funny noses.

HANDS OFF MUNICIPAL GRANTS

It is reported that the provincial government proposes to cut the annual grants to the municipalities of British Columbia still more in the effort to present a budget to the Legislature at its next session which will not show quite such a wide gap between revenue and expenditure as otherwise would be the case.

Such a policy is out of the question. If the annual grants were cut any further, many of the sources of revenue the government derives from the cities and towns would have to be given up in order to enable the municipalities to collect the additional revenue to make up for the deficiency.

Municipal taxation in British Columbia has reached its limit and in some cases already is producing municipal bankruptcy. The main source of civic revenue is real property. This will not stand another cent of taxation. Land is reverting everywhere because the owners simply have not the money to pay the taxes, and this in turn reduces the number of taxpayers.

The province has invaded the municipal field of taxation until it has bagged practically everything in sight. Moreover, the province owns valuable property in all of the cities on which there is no taxation. Its holdings in Victoria alone run into millions. Incidentally, if the government went after its income tax delinquencies as energetically as the municipalities go after those in arrears in their own fields, it would improve its financial situation to a very considerable extent. In any case it can not cut down its grants to the municipalities any more than it already has done without ruining them and eventually ruining itself in the process.

BRITAIN'S TRADE WITH RUSSIA
The Baltimore Sun

As new revelations of the price which was paid for "success" at Ottawa dazzle the British public, many must agree with Lear that it is "sharper than a serpent's tooth" to have a thankless Dominion. The last time Britain broke off with Russia her government acted on the assumption that the Soviets were plotting Britain's overthrow. This time she cancels a mutually advantageous commercial arrangement at the behest of Canada, whose leaders, besides being the victims of anti-Russophobia, resent the competition of Russian lumber, wheat, paper, etc., with Canadian products. So far nothing has been said about Canada's buying the manufactured goods which Britain has been selling to Russia. That, needless to say, does not come into the scope of Mr. Bennett's ideas on imperial co-operation.

CITY MANAGEMENT
The Providence Journal

New York banks have refused to lend the city any more money. The tragedy of New York's case is that it could have been prevented. One admires heroic and drastic remedial action once a crisis of this nature is reached. But one could admire infinitely more the never condone practices which produce such crises. It did not require a world depression to reveal New York's shortcomings. They have been manifest there, as similar conditions have been manifest elsewhere, to those citizens who took time to examine the facts and make suitable protest. But it requires co-operation by the whole body of taxpayers if remedial action is to be achieved. That the depression is actually forcing the taxpayers public to take an intelligent, even though tardy, interest in this whole problem of public finance is one of its few compensations.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

The unemployed show bad taste and go on living—two excellent inventions will make life more livable—a young lady leaves my life across the Bay—and old Euclid would turn in his grave if he knew.

By H. B. W.

A WORD OF CHEER

A CHEERFUL FACT about the depression has just been discovered, and, curiously enough, by the undertakers of the United States. Unhappily for the poor undertakers, it is not cheerful to them, because the fact is that mortality rates are lower now, during the depression, than at any time in the last fifty years. The undertakers, poor fellows, have been forced to the conclusion that people with reduced incomes or no incomes at all cannot over-eat, and consequently live longer than an undertaker has a right to expect. But even this ray of comfort is found to be fleeting, is found to be only the beginning of another of those vicious circles which make civilization so trying. As The Manchester Guardian cogently observes, if the depressed people desire to die, and make way for others, they are only reducing each other's already slender chance of employment. The ultimate risk, of course, is that they will insist on living forever while the people who have money are left to starve themselves to death, until after a while the whole population will be poor. It is bad enough, as The Chicago Tribune observes, for unemployed to clutter up the state, but it is going a bit too far when they thrive on it. One gathers from The Tribune, indeed, that any self-respecting unemployed person should have the ordinary patriotism and decency to starve to death immediately.

THE RECIPIENTS of unemployment relief," says The Tribune, and I want you to consider its words. "Are objects of charity. It was their duty to support themselves and their families and, in addition, to help support the common government. For in reason or another they have failed to make the grade. The community has recognized the fact that an economic hurricane has wiped out the jobs and savings of many stalwart citizens, and the recognition has taken the form of private gifts and public contributions for relief. The money has been given not because the victims of the hurricane have a right to it, but because the community has a heart and wishes to prevent physical suffering."

RIGHT TO LIVE

THAT IS IMPORTANT, and The Tribune is to be thanked for presenting the issue of these times in just this cold-blooded fashion. For we must decide in every country whether The Tribune is right or wrong, whether the people who inhabit the earth are entitled as a fundamental right to live or not when there is an abundance of all life's necessities around them; whether one man's property should be any more sacred than another man's opportunity to work for a living. Twenty-five million people will spend this winter in the United States on charity; and there will be close to 100,000 in the same position in British Columbia. Perhaps they are not entitled to charity, and most of them don't want it. But they do want work. We are giving them charity not because of their failure, but because of the failure of our economic system to give them the opportunity to work, the most natural right of human beings. It is not denied to any animal in right not denied to any animal in nature but civilized man. And, having adopted policies which are reducing the opportunity for work on all sides, we now propose to institute a national debt, or unemployment insurance, to provide permanent charity for the unemployed. I have long believed such insurance to be necessary, but its growing necessity, and the Canadian Government's sudden conversion to it are no cause for rejoicing. They only indicate the increasing madness of a country, rich in everything human beings can use, rich in the opportunity to work and create still more wealth, rich enough to pay interest on all obligations in appreciated dollars, and yet having to support a large part of its people on hand-outs.

SCIENTIFIC NOTE

TWO RECENT inventions seem to mark the dizzy climax of the machine age. One of them, the product of an unbalanced mind in Australia, is designed to balance corporal punishment for school children to a degree undreamed of in the philosophy of the good old days when we were young. With a hideous system of weights, gears and gages it will be possible to speak boys by machinery so that each receives precisely the same amount of chastisement in the same spot, and there will be no chance of variation on account of the varying strength of teachers who administer this ancient rite. I recommend this diabolical device to Mr. Foster, who proposes to speak all boys found in beer parlors, but the whole idea revolts me. It is another blow to the good old handicrafts by the machine, another device which will reduce all life to the same monotony, another invention which will make humanity monotonous and distressed at bottom, another insult to that divinity which, up till now, has successfully shaped our ends.

THE OTHER invention is an automatic card table, now on sale in New York, which shuffles and deals the cards, thus giving the players time to argue about serious subjects like the depression and the new bridge rules. And yet I see some possibility of participation in this machine, if it can be slightly improved in one minor respect. When it is improved so that it can shuffle the cards, deal them and then play them, according to the Culbertson forcing-approach system, then I shall take up bridge with my neighbor. Then every body will have time to argue about worth-while things over the bridge table like the new bridge rules, for instance. And the game will be just as interesting as ever.

committed for the same reason. Now, this lady is in charge of the ante-room of a great minister of state across the Bay, where I have had occasion to wait from time to time; and one grows tired, after a while, of looking even at a young woman who is not hard to look at, if you know what I mean. Many a man has found that out too late. And ministers of state across the Bay, perhaps with deliberate intent so as to drive callers like me away, leave in their ante-rooms such a collection of dull, boring magazines and papers as you will find in no other place. This particular office is filled with a clutter of publications devoted to the construction of concrete roads, the laying of cast-iron water pipes and the installation of sewers. Waiting for a minister of state is thus a pretty grisly business. Well, this private paragraph is to acknowledge the humanity of the young lady who, in answer to my prayers, actually went out and got copies of Punch and put them on the table of the ante-room for me to read when I am waiting. True, they are old copies and they look as if they had been stolen from some aged man's home, but still, after the concrete, water-pipes and sewers they are a relief indeed. I promised that I would make public thanks for them. But I am not going to tell you where they are, or how charming this lady is. Otherwise

SAYS BUSINESS BETTER IN WEST

Michael Stein, Sales Executive of Tip-Top Tailors, Pays Visit to Victoria

"Our firm is experiencing considerably better business in the west than in eastern Canada," stated Michael Stein, sales executive, Tip Top Tailors Ltd., who was a visitor this week from the head office and factory in Toronto.

While Mr. Stein says his company's experience may not be indicative of the clothing industry as a whole or business in general, he feels it speaks well for the stability of the purchasing power of the western provinces.

"We find that the west responds more quickly than the east does to any improvement in general conditions," Mr. Stein added.

Tip Top Tailors is the largest firm in the British Empire selling men's made-to-measure clothing direct to the consumer from their own factories.

NAVAL VETERANS AND UNEMPLOYED

The Naval Veterans' concert party, under the direction of W. H. Hadley, gave a programme at the Mount View High School yesterday evening in aid of the Sanich unemployed. The entertainment was well attended and appreciation of the veterans was repeatedly shown by the applause and calls for encores, and three cheers were given for the artists at the close.

Take No Chances With GASSY STOMACH

Line Stomach Prescription Makes the Most Upset Stomach Strong and Healthy Again

Did you know that one teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia in a glass of water not only INSTANTLY relieves gas pains, bloat and wards off indigestion attacks but taken faithfully after each meal for one week makes the stomach so robust—the digestive system so strong, that you can digest the heartiest meal without the slightest distress.

You can just bet Bisurated Magnesia is different from other remedies but it's splendid Antacid and Digestant which CORRECTS its ingredients are favorably known to physicians and have been universally used to successfully overcome gas and indigestion troubles—the stubborn, chronic kind! Bisurated Magnesia drives out gas and acid and helps keep it out—it makes a NATURAL action in your stomach and after a week when it puts your stomach in normal, perfect working shape—watch how quickly nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation and headaches disappear. Bisurated Magnesia ALWAYS WORKS—it's scientifically compounded to do so, yet it's low in accordance with the most leading druggists everywhere. You want what's best for your upset stomach—so ask for and GET Bisurated Magnesia. (Adv.)

and humorous chairman. The following artists assisted: J. Thompson, pianist; Miss Styan, Miss Lilian Grant, Miss Pollock, Piper Ian Duncan, Buster Brown, comedian; D. Sadler, Eric Harbord, G. Eade, W. H. Hadley, Wilson and Drysdale, Bert Harman and Sea Cadets Brookman and Ramsdale, supported by a chorus of ten. The concert was brought to a close at 10.20 o'clock.

INTERFERENCE IN RADIO TRACED

Department Asks City to Rectify Trouble Caused at Lighting Plant

Approximately 800 radio receiving sets over an area near the city's electric lighting plant are affected by interference set up in the plant, according to a report submitted by E. J. Haughton, division superintendent of the radio branch, to the City Council.

Tests were conducted recently on the matter by radio department officials.

The interference, it is stated, was traced directly to mercury arc rectifiers in the lighting station.

The officials discovered that the use of choke coils on the rectifiers would eliminate some of the trouble.

The department claims that the owner of interfering apparatus is responsible for suppressing interference with radio reference and has asked the council to consider installing the choke coils. It is understood the cost would not be great.

ADDRESS ON POETS AT MOUNT VIEW

Interesting Debates Also Held at High School

During the course of an interesting lecture on Canadian poets at Mount View High School, Rev. F. W. McKinnon recited several selections, among which were: "The Cremation of Sam McGee," by Robert Service; "The Little Red Canoe," by Pauline Johnston, and "The Habitant," by William Henry Drummond. The speaker outlined the lives of various famous Canadian poets and poetesses.

Jubilee W.A. is busy—Tentative plans to provide Christmas cheer for patients, nurses and staff of the Jubilee Hospital, numbering about 400 in all, were made by the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital at its meeting held yesterday afternoon in the nurses' home. Mrs. W. A. Chambers, president, presided. The meeting received a letter of thanks from the board of directors, gratefully acknowledging donations made last month and the 1,000 pieces of linen received at the recent linen shower. Mrs. J. Phelan reported the receipt of $22 in dues and announced a total of 274 paid-up members.

To show pictures—C. L. Harrison will show his pictures of the Forbidden Plateau to-night at the "Y" Corner Club at the F.W.C.A. at 8 o'clock. The first and third Thursday of each month is set aside for travel talks. Thursday, December 15, Mrs. Fred Parsons will speak on her trip to Naples. These are open meetings and any visitors will be made welcome.

Mrs. Kewick of Dumfries, Scotland, is visiting the city and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

FRENCH HISTORY ABLY REVIEWED
The French history which is the most interesting of the Alliance Francaise held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. A. Stapler, 1545 Richmond Avenue, where the meetings will be held during the winter months. There was a good attendance of members and guests. The French Revolution was the subject of the evening. The programme outlined at last meeting for study and discussion of that period of French history which embraces the years immediately preceding the French Revolution until the beginning of the First Empire, was successfully launched yesterday when a number of members read interesting papers on the philosophers, Jean Jacques Rousseau, Voltaire and others, whose utterances and theories were contributory causes to the general upheaval. Madame Archibald sketched the characters and lives of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, and a period of stimulating discussion was greatly enjoyed. On Wednesday next the meeting will be held at 3:30 o'clock, when the subject of the French Revolution will be considered, 1790-1792.

To Give Lecture—There will be a lecture on "The Best of Health and Prosperity Into Our Vibrations," this evening at 8:15 o'clock at 1406 Douglas Street, under the auspices of the Spiritual Science Temple and conducted by the Rev. Edith Allen of Calgary.

True Blue Bazaar—At the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, to-morrow afternoon the ladies of the City Lodge, Royal True Blues, will hold a bazaar. The proceeds of the bazaar will be a meeting of the lodge, when the initiation and election of officers will be held. Provincial Grand Lodge of Officers will also pay a visit, and the evening will conclude with a banquet.

MISS DAWES TO BE SPRING BRIDE

Miss Margaret Dawes, above, daughter of Rufus C. Dawes of Chicago and niece of General Charles G. Dawes, will be a spring bride. Her parents have announced her engagement to Beverly Jefferson of Evanston, Ill.

Carnival-Bazaar To Be At Armories Saturday

Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson Patrons of Affair to Aid Women's Workroom; Dancing and Badminton Features; Beautiful Decorations for Stalls and Hall.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Fordham Johnson are extending their patronage to the carnival to be held at the Armories on Saturday afternoon and evening in aid of the funds of the Women's Workroom. Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown will perform the formal opening ceremony at 2:30 o'clock, in place of Brigadier Sutherland Brown, who is unable to be present, and the fair will continue throughout the afternoon and evening until midnight. After the closing of the stalls at 10 o'clock, dancing will be indulged in by the whole assembly, lending a carnival air to the finale.

MISS KYDD TO TALK TO-NIGHT

Speaks to Women's Bodies and at Dinner To-morrow; Noted Career

Victoria to-day is welcoming one of the most outstanding young women of Canada, Miss Winnifred Kydd, M.A., member of the Canadian delegation of the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, and president of the National Council of Women. Although still in her twenties, she has had a remarkable record of achievement and her arrival in this city, her first visit to the west, has been awaited with considerable interest.

This evening Miss Kydd will address a public meeting to be held at the Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the League of Nations Society. Dean Quinlan will preside and Miss Kydd's subject will be "The League of Nations and Disarmament." There will be no admission fee but a collection will be taken up to defray expenses.

To-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Shrine Hall, she will address a joint meeting of the Women's Canadian Club and the Local Council of Women to which Miss Kydd is national president. Her subject will be "Personalities at Geneva." On Friday evening at 7 o'clock, Miss Kydd will be the guest at a dinner given in her honor by the Business and Professional Women's Club at Spencer's tea-room. Members of the Soroptimist and University Women's Clubs, together with the executives of the Women's Canadian Club, Local Council and I.O.D.E. have been invited to attend this gathering at which Miss Kydd will speak on "The Contribution of Women to Peace and Disarmament." Tickets for the dinner, which must be secured beforehand, may be obtained from members of the B. and P.W. Club or from Miss Elsie Richards, Metropolitan Building.

GAY DECORATIONS

Beautiful decorations of illuminated Christmas trees and flags will transform the prosaic interior of the Armories into a festive bower for the many gaily-decorated stalls. Miss Inez Keane is in charge of the decorations, assisted by the Misses Mary Campbell, K. Clay, Patsy Heming, Alice Cotton and Mary Hunter.

BAND TO PLAY

The band of the 16th Canadian Scottish under Bandmaster Miller and with the permission of Colonel Brooke Stephenson is playing during the afternoon.

Representatives from each company of the Girl Guides will help with the tea, under the convener'ship of Mrs. J. Phelan and Miss Daphne Pooley; flowers, Mrs. G. Armstrong and Mrs. Driscoll; home-cooking, Mrs. A. Gillespie and Mrs. Pease; novelties, Mrs. Lennox Irving, Mrs. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. E. H. E. Ker and Mrs. J. Rithet; ladies-of-the-thousand pockets, directed by Mrs. C. E. Wilson and Mrs. F. W. Hartley, assisted by Gloria Wilson and Patsy Pooley; hot dogs, Mrs. Despard, Twigg and Mrs. Cudemore. "Jitney" dancers will be under the direction of Mrs. L. A. Genge and Mrs. D. B. McConnan. There will be three courts of badminton in play, and already there is a tremendous interest in this event.

ALL READY FOR POLICE BALL

Annual Function to Be Staged at Empress Hotel To-morrow Evening

The various committees in charge of the manifold details for the annual ball of the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association have completed their arrangements and are in readiness for the biggest social function of the year—Yuletide season which is to be held at the Empress Hotel to-morrow evening, commencing at 9 o'clock and continuing until 3 a.m. This is the nineteenth annual ball staged by the police and the demand for tickets assures for to-morrow evening's function a success commensurate with the many outstanding successes redounding to the credit of these popular hosts. Meticulous attention is being paid to the many details conducive to the pleasure and comfort of the guests, and the music, supper and other features will all be of the very best. Dress will be strictly formal.

BIG EARNINGS OF FILM STAR

Gloria Swanson Received $2-600,000 From Three Pictures, Suit Reveals

Los Angeles, Dec. 1—Large earnings of Gloria Swanson, film actress, through her share of gross receipts in several of her pictures, were mentioned yesterday at the start of the trial of Maurice Cleary's suit to collect $45,000 from her as her theatrical agent.

In some instances, it was stated in arguments of opposing attorneys, Miss Swanson, who has been in England for some time, sold her interest in pictures before the receipts had been received and computed.

The sum of $1,241,081 was mentioned as her share of receipts of "The Trespasser," under her contract with the producers, from "Loves of Sonia," it was stipulated, she would have received $680,370 under the contract, and from "Sole of the Moon," $778,839.

In a deposition relative to his contract with Miss Swanson in connection with a studio contract in 1925, Cleary said:

"I was familiar with the money that Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford and the member artists of United Artists had been receiving, and I had discussed with Miss Swanson the increased amount that an artist could have if they produced independently and had a certain fixed distribution charge."

The deposition added Cleary made a trip to California from the east with Miss Swanson.

"We were discussing all the time," it said, "the possibilities of obtaining an increased amount over what she had been receiving from the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

OVER-CONSCIENTIOUS MOTHER
STIFLES CHILD'S INDEPENDENCE

Some of the inharmonious elements which develop in homes are directly traceable to the mother's devotion to the home and to the child. That sounds as if the statement should be challenged. Imagine a mother's being too devoted to her home and children!
It's very easily possible.

EXCUSES
How many mothers do you know who never think of leaving the child in the care of any other person? In defence they say, "I'm afraid a stranger won't feed the baby properly, or do everything just right for him. I feel it's my duty to be on the job."

Another mother says, "I want to go away, but every time I do the child cries so that whoever takes care of her is just worn out. I'm afraid to go away in the morning when she is asleep for fear she'll wake up and have hysterics because I'm not there."

Just about all that is necessary in the first situation is that the child's feeding instructions should be written out in detail, and the mother should leave her telephone number, so that she may be called, or if she is shopping, she can take time to call up at least once during the morning or afternoon so that any unusual complications can be adjusted.

GETTING ACQUAINTED
The second child has had no experience with anyone but the mother.
Instead of being left with a perfect stranger, which treatment almost any child would resent, she should be allowed to get used to the new person by playing with her in daytime, the new person leaving when the child is still full of delight in her presence. She should be with the child before she goes to sleep and the parent should tell the child at bedtime, "Jane will be here to take care of you when mother is away."

Too much devotion to the child and family makes for a one-sided development of the child, and a lack of ability to make a satisfactory adjustment between being cared for by the mother and being cared for by someone outside the family.

EFFECT ON MOTHER

There is, likewise, a stifling of the mother's development. No human being can go on taking care of a child and curtailing all association with other women, with social, political or cultural activities or academic interests outside the home, and remain anything but a vegetable. The good mother must also be the alert, intelligent, wide-awake individual who can offer the child something more than just these propriety-prepared meals and the stamina to enforce the daily routine as laid down in the rules governing schedules.

A knowledge of all of those things is essential to being a good mother, but delegation of authority is the sign of a leader, and the mother can well employ such leadership in the home. She should know when it is necessary for her to be at the helm and when someone, less well fitted, perhaps, can be allowed to carry out the routine she has laid down. Over-conscientious devotion to home and family makes a marriage of the mother and results directly in the child's complete and infantile dependence on her.

POPULAR NURSE
WED YESTERDAY

Miss Helen E. W. Warren Becomes Bride of Clement J.
Carter of Port Haney

At a pretty ceremony performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B.
Schmeck, Cambridge Street, old friends of the bride's family, the marriage was quietly solemnized yesterday evening of Helen Esther Winn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Warren, 39 Cambridge Street, and Mr.
Clement John Carter of Port Haney, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carter of Port Quailam. Rev. E. A. Henry, D.D., pastor of Fairfield United Church, officiated at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the young couple.

Girl friends of the bride were responsible for the decorations of the reception room, the ceremony being performed before the fireplace which was banked with red and white chrysanthemums, and flanked with palm fronds. As the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, by whom she was escorted, she wore a Wed played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," and later, as the register was being signed, Mrs. R. A. Gurney sang "At Dawning."

The bride wore a lovely gown of pink georgette appliqued in lace. It was made on long lines and had cape sleeves. Her veil, of tucked ivory net arranged in soft folds across her brow, was caught at the temples by her hair, which was styled in waves and held with a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of deep pink roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Mildred Dickson, in a pretty frock of Nile green net and a green moire hat, was the only bridesmaid, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. During the reception which followed, Miss Mary Warren played several violin selections. The young ladies were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs.
Warren, the latter in a gown of brown georgette and hat en suite, and by Mr. and Mrs. Schmeck, the latter wearing a smart ensemble of black and white, were cousins of the bride.

Supper was served from a table centred with the wedding cake, and arranged with silver baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums and all cream candies in silver holders. Assisting in serving the supper were the Misses Jean and Frances Moore, who were fellow graduates of the Junior Hospital with the bride. Miss Mildred Margison and the Misses Mary and Dorothy Warren.

After a honeymoon at up-island points, Mr. and Mrs. Carter will return to Victoria about the middle of December, before leaving for Port Haney, where they will make their home. For traveling the bride chose an attractive, attractive, well-written mystery—yes, well-written—mystery.
A tweed mixture on a background of green, a green hat and a grey squirrel neckpiece, the gift of the groom.

The groom gave the bride a silver bracelet, the gift of the groom.
Among the many attractive gifts received by the young couple was a silver-mounted Pyrex casserole from the Fairfield United Church choir, of which the bride has been a popular member.

THE TOWN With Misses Pepys

Up and for a walk with Jocks before breakfast. Fall to musing on the loss of our dear Socks, who departed this life during our absence in England.
Jocks enraptured at our return, though he doth now daily call on the friends with whom he stayed. Ponder whether we should get another pussy playmate for Jocks, but decide to wait till after Yuletide, though feel sure he doth miss Socks sadly.

Stride briskly along and do glory in the comfort of the "Truthful Arch" chaise I did of late buy at 745 Yates Street. For but '33 'tis surprising to buy a comfortable, good-looking convenient "chaise" in a combination of light, fitting snuggly at the heel and giving so much ease to tired arches. Tried on ties and straps, brown and black, and after some hesitation, chose black ties. What an attractive shop is the Fashion Bootery—daytime shoes, evening slippers and house slippers, all at small prices.

This smooze incessant rain gives me to decide I must have a raincoat, so straight to Gordon Ellis Ltd., who import the long-famed, rainproof Harris tweed coats—Harris tweed, with its pleasant fragrance of peat, homespun the fabric of Harris, in northern Scotland, wild, but tailored by a Westend London firm for smartness. 'Tis a coat I'll be proud to own. Ever enjoy looking over the stock, so examine as well some camel hair and wool coats from England and silk-finish raincoats, in light or heavy weights, very trim and practical. They run from $8.50.

"I had a penny.
A bright new penny.
I took my penny
To the market square.
I wanted a rabbit,
A little brown rabbit,
And I looked for a rabbit
Most everywhere."

Methinks little Christopher Robin would have found his brown rabbit if he had happily hopped into the charming little shop named after him in Belmont House, 604 Humboldt Street, for there I did see a soft woolly rabbit peeping at me from the window and straightway enticed within by numberless toy animals and dolls—English toys, knitted dolls, and a host of wooly toys that were "it" to me to guide when the Sandman comes, distillative hand dressed—dolls dolls with knitted outfits, and la-these penguins truly be unique and bespeak the cold polar regions whence Santa comes.
Toys from 50c to $3.50. Lovers of children will want to visit the Christopher Robin Shop.

Arrested by Popsy Shop window—always a refreshing sight and do wander in, where I am heartily greeted—and methinks with true warmth by my old friend, Peter, curled up in a box by the radiator, who stretches his long length, comes up to give me welcome—a happy place he lives midst gorgeous flowers.
These Popsy Shop flowers, too, are the most delightful way to express our welcome, cheer us, and send kind thoughts or say "Bon Voyage."

Meet Misses Whyte, who invite me to lunch. Scarce can I listen to her tale of household cares, so intrigued am I by the talk at the next table—la-how vexing, canst not hear the name of the book they discuss—a romance of olden times—exciting—glamorous—mysterious—yes, well-written—what!
What's this they say about the ending? They talk of giving Marionette subscriptions as Yuletide gifts and I hear no more of the book. Make note to ask the Marionette Librarian
—she'll know!

Laugh! I did forget to tell Samuel to bring home English Bakery bread.
I must get him into the habit of calling there each day. That malt bread we used last winter he thought most beneficial to his health. The delicious roma of crisp, freshly baked loaves greets my nostrils. They do bake so many different kinds of bread. A delectable selection of cakes and pies —do choose a noisette cake, a dainty rich cake, a nut cake, or a butter tea or a delightful windup to a good dinner.

"Tis pleasant to go home, well content with my purchases. In truth, our discriminating townsmen will buy their gifts early, if they choice."

Samuel home loaded with packages and it doth seem most of them came from Barber's Toy Shop. 'Tis natural these construction toys appeal to him —he hath ever loved Meccano and what is this model construction outfit?
They will find many buyers. The Split-of-Pioneer-Canada—log cabins and all sorts of log construction, to be worked out with small Canadian logs and, of course, manufactured in Canada—what better for a boy from this logging island of ours! Samuel, ever a bargain lover, buys several much-reduced toys from a special table.

SISTER
MARY'S KITCHEN

BLACK FRUIT CAKE IS YULE FAVORITE

By SISTER MARY

The rich black fruit cake is a Yuletide favorite—best if made several weeks before it goes to grace the table.

Chocolate is added for richness and color. Brandy, which was supposed to be the preservative of fruit cake, is not used in this recipe. Thorough baking, chocolate and the use of strong coffee or fruit juice in the place of milk will keep a cake moist for weeks and produce a delicious flavor.

BLACK FRUIT CAKE
Two cups shortening (butter and lard mixed), 1 cup light brown sugar, 10 eggs, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup liquid (orange juice, sweet cider or grape juice), 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda,
1 tablespoon powdered cinnamon,
1 teaspoon powdered allspice, 1 teaspoon powdered cloves, 2 teaspoons grated nutmeg, 3/4 cake bitter chocolate, 2 pounds seeded raisins, 1 pound seedless raisins, 1 pound cleaned currants, 1/2 pound, staranise, citron, 1/2 pound candied pineapple, 1/2 pound candied lemon peel, 1/2 pound candied orange peel, 2 1/2 cups blanched and shredded almonds, 2 tablespoons vanilla, 1 teaspoon salt.

Prepare fruit and almonds. Cut cherries in halves and pineapple in thin slices. If citron and candied peels must be sliced and shredded, warm well before cutting. Mix prepared fruits and sift 1 cup flour over them. Mix well with a fork until perfectly blended. Cream shortening and sugar in a large bowl. Add eggs well beaten and beat this mixture hard.

NOW ADD CHOCOLATE
Add molasses, chocolate melted over hot water and the liquid. Mix well.
Mix and sift remaining flour, soda and spices. Sift these ingredients several times to be sure the soda is well mixed with the flour. Add to batter with nuts and vanilla and beat until smooth and perfectly blended. Turn into prepared cake pans, cover with paper as in preceding recipe and steam three hours. Remove from steamer and bake forty-five minutes in a slow oven.

This rule makes four loaves of cake.
Half the recipe can be used if only two loaves are wanted. Keep in mind that each ingredient is reduced one-half.

When cake is removed from the oven, place in clean towel or a cake cooler. Pull cloth over pan to cover it completely. Let stand until cool.
Then wrap closely in heavy waxed paper and store in a tight tin box until wanted.

Crocker's Estate

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 1.— Attorneys for Mrs. Bula Crocker said she had regained possession to-day of much of the Palm Beach property left by her husband, the late Richard Crocker, Tammany Hall chieftain, when a real estate company failed to carry out a court order to pay her more than $1,000,000.

The court order held that if the money was not forthcoming the property was to revert to Mrs. Crocker.

Love Unlocks The Door

By ANNIE S. SWAN

"Possible? Oh, yes, quite, she's very nice, and uncommonly pretty," he answered with some lightning of his face. "We rather like having her there. It's horribly dull without you, of course."

"Is she aggressive at all?" "Not at all; she is simply a guest, as any other person would be. You needn't feel any apprehension on that score, Biddy. I assure you, and, of course, you'll be kind to her."

"Well, I hope so. I mean to be, but I never can make promises," said Biddy, rather shortly. "Mary has lectured me sufficiently. She says quite frankly that she is to be pitied for being married to Gilbert, and that we ought to show her as much kindness as possible."

"That's very good of Mary. Not many women would be so generous," said Walter, sincerely. "Tell me how the Gerards are. Is Humphrey better?"

"Yes, he went back to business yesterday, but he has got a shake, Biddy. That was horrible, too. Isn't it a wonder how much disaster one irresponsible person can work in this world, and convulse a peaceable area with all sorts of disturbances?"

"And Elsie and Mrs. Gerard? You are not a communicative person, Walter. You ought to remember how long I have been away, and how inestimable I am for news."

"They are quite well," he answered. "I have not been at the Cleugh Cottage since last Sunday." "And this is Friday," she said, pursing her lips. "Then you must have been working hard. Tell me, Walter, does father mean that Mrs. Gilbert is to remain permanently at Burton Lea?"

"Certainly not; that would be unfair to you. He is only waiting until Gilbert has been laid hold of."

"Then she is to be shipped off to him? How nice for her!" observed Biddy, with curling lip. "I'd rather sweep a crossing myself than go to a man who has treated me like that, but I suppose it'll be all right from her point of view."

"I suppose it is. I've never spoken to her on the subject, you see. I'm very little in the house, when we get there."

"Yes, certainly. It's almost seven, and dinner was ordered for half-past. I heard him telling Duncan himself, and he remembered all the things you specially liked."

"How sweet of him!" said Biddy with a tender smile. "Oh, Walter, what a woman that is!"

She's very nervous, poor thing, but you'll put her at her ease."

"I'll try to. What a man you are, dad! You'd put straight all the things out of joint in the world if you could."

An indefinable change crossed his face.

"I don't know. Seems to me our lives got permanently out of joint since you went away. I must keep you now, but you'll come to me after dinner. I've a great many things to talk to you about, and one in particular."

"All right, dear. No, don't come up. I'll go and see Mrs. Gilbert myself."

She took the stairs two at a time, humming as she went. It was sweet to be home again. Already everything seemed easy and right.

Lily was standing in the middle of the room when the door opened. Biddy's quick eye took her in from top to toe. Her greeting was quite characteristic.

"So you are my new sister? I am glad to see you, though I am sorry my mother has behaved so badly. I wonder how much disaster one irresponsible person can work in this world, and convulse a peaceable area with all sorts of disturbances?"

She held out both her hands and kissed Lily, and that was the end of it.

"You needn't be afraid of me. I'm only Biddy, whom nobody minds, so long as you're here. We're going to be happy together."

She struck the keynote she meant to keep all through, and from that moment there was no misunderstanding. Lily felt a relief too great for words. Her mother had great difficulty in inducing her to remain at Burton Lea until Biddy's return. The dinner passed off without a hitch, but a close observer might have noticed that it was Biddy who did most of the talking.

Horne himself seemed the least at ease. Small wonder, when he considered the nature of the communication he had to make to his daughter.

So far he had kept his own counsel, not even telling Walter that he had arrived at an understanding with Elsie Gerard.

"Lily will excuse you, Biddy," he said after dinner. "We have a great deal to talk about."

Uncle Wiggily's New Friend

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Did you hear that noise?" asked Uncle Wiggily in a low voice of his new friend, the cold, tramp dog, who had been rolled in the rug.

"I heard something," was the answer. "It was a noise and it came from my bungalow," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm sort of worried about it--er--what's your name?" he asked the cold dog.

"Well, I haven't any real name," was the reply. "Most folks call me Get." "That's a strange name for a dog," said Mr. Longears. "Why do they call you Get?"

"I don't know," said the cold animal. "All I know is when I go round the back doors to see if there is anything left in the garbage cans, the folks always yell at me. 'Get out of there! So I get and I suppose that's my name--Get--unless you want to call me by my full name Get Out of There.'"

"That's rather a long name," spoke Uncle Wiggily with a laugh, and then he was laughing at the poor, cold, tramp dog who had to get what he could to eat out of garbage pails and not always then. "How would it do if I called you Carpet?"

"Why Carpet?" asked the cold dog. "Because I found you in a rug," said Uncle Wiggily, who liked his little joke. "How's that for a name--Carpet?" "I like it very much," the dog answered. "It's the best name I've ever had. It's respectable like and much better than Get."

"I think so, myself," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "So I shall call you Carpet." "And I'll call you Uncle Wiggily," barked Carpet the dog, who was found in a rug as I told you in the story before this Carpet had rolled himself up in the rug to keep warm, for a cold wind was blowing.

"Now we are friends," said the rabbit gentleman. "And I shall help you find out what made that noise in your bungalow," whined Carpet. "Perhaps it is the mouse-lady you spoke of--Nurse Jane Puzzy Wussy--calling for you to bring in the rug. I hope she won't mind that I rolled myself up in it to keep warm."

"Not Nurse Jane!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "She loves dogs. But it isn't Nurse Jane calling. She wouldn't call that way for a rug." "What is being called?" asked the dog named Carpet.

"Hark and listen!" suggested Mr. Longears. "So he and Carpet harked and listened and they heard the call of: 'Help! Help! Help!'"

"Some one is in trouble," whispered Carpet and he stuck up his ears and made his tail stiff and showed his teeth, but not at the rabbit gentleman. The cold dog growled toward the bungalow.

"Yes, some one is in trouble," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "And it sounded like Baby Bunty." "Who is Baby Bunty?" asked Carpet. "She is the little orphan rabbit who lives with me," Mr. Longears answered. "She had no place to go after she became an orphan so I let her stay in my bungalow. She is very cute and so is Little Bub."

"Who is Little Bub?" asked Carpet. "He is the rainbow boy, a real boy, a rabbit," explained the bunty gentleman. "He comes on adventures with me and Baby Bunty and all my rabbit children love Little Bub." So will you when you have seen him.

"I'm sure I shall agree--Carpet. But just now don't you think we had better find out who is calling for help and why?" "That's a very good idea," said Mr. Longears. "Come. We'll go to the bungalow. But if it should be any of the Bad Chaps--"

"Hark! Leave them to me!" suddenly growled Carpet. "You have been a good friend to me, Uncle Wiggily, and I would like nothing better than to chase a couple of Bad Chaps for you. Come on!"

Boldly Uncle Wiggily and Carpet went toward the bungalow. It was dark night now. And the voice kept on calling: "Help! Help! Help!" "Hark! I see him! It is a Bad Chap! It's the Bob Cat with his silly little tail and he's in your kitchen--teasing Nurse Jane so she can't get supper! barked Carpet. 'I'll fix him!'"

With that Uncle Wiggily's new friend Carpet, the rug dog, dashed into the kitchen, nipped the Bob Cat on his silly little tail and then sent the Bad Chap out on the run howling hard.

CHEMAMUS NOTES

Special to The Times

Chemamus, Dec. 1.--The Guides and Brynnae gave an excellent entertainment in the picture house on Friday and Saturday evenings. The programme included songs, sketches, jokes, hunting scenes, drills, dances and flower plays. All the numbers were heartily applauded. The Guides and Brynnae programme took up the first part of the evening, and was followed by an entertainment featuring visiting artists from Nanaimo and Ladysmith, introduced by J. C. Adam, chairman. Those contributing to the evening were: J. Campbell of Chemamus, T. Collings of Ladysmith, and Williams, Pashley and Headley of Nanaimo. Mrs. Campbell accompanied the visitors. Mrs. Noel Lang, the Guides and Miss Dorothy Fraser, the Brynnae. Raymond Lang and P. R. Haldie attended to the curtain and scene shifting, and P. R. Haldie was doorkeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gillingham, Prior Street, Victoria, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith. Rev. W. Mayne conducted the services in the Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday.

Mrs. Mather of Vancouver is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Macintosh. Mr. and Mrs. Elias, Canning of Youbou were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lessen.

Alexander Dunsen of Vancouver spent the week-end with his family in Chemamus. J. A. Humbird, manager of the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company, made a week-end business trip to Seattle. Mrs. J. A. Howe had as her guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Howard, Queen's Avenue, Victoria. Miss Kathleen Jacobson, who is attending a finishing school in Seattle, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guerner Jacobson. Mrs. J. A. Humbird, who has been visiting friends at Sand Point, Idaho, has returned to Chemamus.

Winning Electric Power

III--A CURRENT CUTS THROUGH A RIVER

In the year 1747, a great event took place in England. Men gathered by the Thames River to test an electric current.

One man turned an old-time electric machine which rubbed glass to produce electricity. The electricity was stored in an electric jar. Then it passed from the jar through a chain into the body of a man and out again through an iron rod which he held in the water!

Electricity was passed from one side of the river to the other.

That was wonderful enough, but it was not the end of the trial. On the other side of the river were other men. One of them held an iron rod in the water, and picked up the electric current. Then the current passed through the man's body and into a wire which he held in his other hand.

Men in three boats held up the wire, and the current kept on traveling until it came back across the river to the electric machine!

In another test an electric current was sent from one side of a river to the other side, and on the other side it produced a spark which set fire to brandy which a man held in a cup. Those who watched said that it took "no time at all" for the flame to start after the electric current was set loose. When we remember the high speed at which electricity travels, we may understand why that was said.

Next year, in Chicago, men plan to start the world's fair with light coming from a distant star. To do so, will point toward mastery over electric power which was being won back in the year 1747.

Some persons living at that time wondered whether the lightning they saw in storms was

The new rule will mean that Herman Trelle, Wembley, Alberta, wheat king, a four-time champion, will not be able to compete in the winning wheat classes again until 1936; and it will also bar Mrs. Macy E. Maycock of Mildred, Ont., who for three years has annexed the blue ribbon for the champion sample of navy beans.

In announcing the adoption of the new rule, M. S. Parkhurst, superintendent of the show, stated it was to encourage and give new and green exhibitors a better chance to score in the larger prizes.

PLEA OF GUILTY LEADS TO JAIL

Calgary, Dec. 1.—Martin Diegal, agent for the National Elevator Company at Chancellors, Alta., was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate Davidson today when he pleaded guilty to the theft of $273.
Diegal, admitted taking a story of a hold-up in which he said he had lost the money belonging to the elevator company. A Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigation revealed the holdup yarn to be false and Diegal admitted he had invented the story to cover his theft from the company.

Sympathy for the ousted Republican might be saved until it is learned whether they really were unlucky in that election or not.

FARMERS FIGHT TAX SALE PLAN

Throng Forces Reeve of Arborg District in Manitoba to Resign

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Five hundred rate farm folk, men and women, were back on their homesteads in the Arborg district today as police and town authorities surveyed damage to municipal offices.
The farmers, protesting against tax sales, invaded the Arborg town hall, wrecked the tax office, scattered assessment rolls to the winds and forced the reeve to resign. It was the second demonstration within a few days, the first having been staged at Chaffield, near Arborg.
Three Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, stationed in the district, attempted to break up the demonstration, but they did not stop the rushing invaders, who tore the clothes of the reeve. No arrests were made.

Arborg is in the northern section of the province, settled mainly by Ukrainian and Polish settlers.
Gathering from Gimli, Poplarfield, Chaffield and districts to the north, the farmer mob converged on Arborg early yesterday afternoon. Leaders addressed the gathering, which included many women, and a parade was staged, ending at the town hall.
The town council is scheduled to meet December 9, and if further tax sales are called, the demonstrators threaten to return for a mass demonstration at the council session.
At the Chaffield demonstration some days ago, an ultimatum was delivered warning that purchasers of farms at tax sales would be given just forty-eight hours to leave town.

Vancouver, Dec. 1.—(Canadian Press)—David C. Dawson, eighty-two, former superintendent of the second division of the Western Union Telegraph Company with headquarters at St. John, N.B., died here yesterday following a short illness. Mr. Dawson retired in 1912 and came to Vancouver six years ago. A funeral service will be held here Friday afternoon.

STUDENTS IN POLISH RIOTS

Associated Press

Warsaw, Poland, Dec. 1.—Polish students engaged in a demonstration yesterday for a comrade killed in a racial clash at Poznan last Sunday. An incident brawl between Jews and Anti-Semites at the Warsaw Polytechnic was stopped when the rector promptly closed the doors of the institution.
The semi-official newspaper Gazeta Polska said the student disorders of the last several days were the work of nationalist politicians. It said they were contrary to desires of the majority of Poles and that peaceful Polish Jews would be safeguarded.
The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said it was feared new student riots would break out here Friday when students planned a memorial service for a slain Christian student. A joint consultation meeting of Jewish and Polish Socialist students decided to confront the opposing Polish students when it was reported the latter planned a decisive battle against the Jews.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said it was feared new student riots would break out here Friday when students planned a memorial service for a slain Christian student. A joint consultation meeting of Jewish and Polish Socialist students decided to confront the opposing Polish students when it was reported the latter planned a decisive battle against the Jews.

Letow, Poland, Dec. 1.—No students were allowed on the streets here after yesterday evening as authorities attempted to stamp out riots involving Jews and Anti-Semites in which about 300 persons have been injured.
Authorities feared there would be new disturbances when memorial masses were to be held in churches in several cities for a Polish student slain Tuesday when he was returning from the funeral of another slain student. Yesterday was comparatively quiet throughout the country, however, reports received here said.

Nanaimo, Dec. 1.—Abraham John Dick, fifty-five, a native son of Nanaimo, died in the Nanaimo General Hospital yesterday afternoon. He is survived by a widow, one son, John, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. B. Birchwood of Nanaimo and Mrs. R. Anderson of Victoria. The funeral arrangements are pending.

Do Riches Insure Happiness?—How Can a Man Teach His Wife to Be Tidy?—Drunken Proposal of Marriage Is Worse Than None at All

DEAR MISS DIX—If a girl marries a rich man who can give her all sorts of luxuries is she assured of happiness? What, if any, are the trials of the rich wife? I. P. S.

Answer—Nobody can deny that money is a comfortable thing in the house and that it brings many advantages which a woman enjoys and saves her from many of the anxieties that vex her soul, but just the possession of money does not make a man a desirable husband, nor does money insure a successful marriage.

Indeed, quite the contrary. More millionaires than poor people get divorced, and it is far rarer to see a rich middle-aged couple who are still lovers than it is to see poor people who are still sweethearts on their golden wedding days.

A woman can be just as lonely in a palace as she can in a two-by-four flat or bungalow. She can be just as much bored by a dull millionaire as she can by a dull six-week clerk. She can find a rich husband just as uncongenial and hard to live with as a poor one. She can have her heart broken by a millionaire that she loves if he is unfaithful to her just as much as she can be hurt by the philandering of a poor one.

So when it comes to the very essence of marriage, which is the happiness that a husband and wife get from being together, the rich wife has no advantage over the poor one. Each is made happy or miserable by the character of the one he or she is married to, not by what he or she possesses. It is only the gold-digger wife who is made happy by her husband's money.

As a matter of fact, the woman who is married to a very successful man has far less chance of happiness than the one who is married to just the common, or garden, variety of husband. A man pays for his success by giving himself to it body and soul so completely that it almost excludes his wife. He must give his first thought, his time, his energy, all that is best in him to his career.

Many a woman married to a big business man is virtually widowed. Often she hardly sees him except for a few hurried minutes a day, and when he comes home he is too tired, too absorbed in gigantic projects to give her more than a perfunctory attention. He may be truly fond of her at bottom and lavish on her everything that money will buy, but he does not give her himself, and that is what a woman wants most if she loves her husband.

More than that, he lives a life apart filled with plans and interests that she cannot share, and there is no such comradeship between her and him as there is between the poor husband and wife who must consult over buying the baby a pair of new shoes and what they will have for dinner. I have heard many very rich women say that the happiest time of their lives was when they were poor young wives helping their husbands get a start in the world.

Then another trial of the poor rich wife is that she lives in constant fear of her husband being taken away from her. Every rich man is a shining mark for every predatory woman he meets. He is set upon by beautiful young creatures who tempt him with every lure of the flesh and the devil, and it takes a strong and resolute Joseph to turn his back upon them and remain faithful to his old wife.

A poor man or even a moderately well-to-do man is virtually safe from this danger. He hasn't enough money to make him interesting to the vamps, and so his wife is saved from the ceaseless agonizing and often hopeless fight of trying to hold her husband.

In marriage a woman might well pray, as did the psalmist of old, to give her neither riches nor poverty. The happiest couples are those in which neither the wife nor the gold-digger are trying to break into the home. Nothing binds a man and woman together as does the common interest of working together and saving together and building up a home together and being dependent upon each other for their pleasure and interest in life. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married for three years and have a sweet baby girl. Even before the baby came my wife and I quarreled over her slovenly housekeeping and untidiness. Still, then she would make an effort to clean up for a while, but now she just lets everything go and uses the baby for an alibi. I am able to afford one servant for her. What can I do? SALESMAN.

Answer—If a woman is just naturally trifling and lazy and slovenly, she is incurable. She will always love her ease better than anything else on earth, and no consideration of her family's comfort will galvanize her into action. The only thing that a man cursed with that kind of wife can do is to make enough money to hire a good maid who will make him a comfortable home in which to live.

There are some faults in a wife that a husband can correct if he goes about it with tact and firmness, but he wastes his time trying to reform a lazy one. There is nothing in her to which he can appeal. She has no sense of duty, or else she would realize that she isn't playing fair in not being a good housekeeper. She has no sense of pride, or else she would be ashamed to go sloppy and untidy dressed and to keep a house that looks like a pigsty. Hence the man with such a wife must either get rid of her or make up his mind to endure her as she is. He can never change her.

As for your wife making an alibi of the baby, that's a common feminine practice. Thousands of women use their children as a standing excuse for everything they do and leave undone.

Plenty of women simply slump after the first baby is born. They let themselves go untidy. They don't even comb their hair or put on a decent dress for dinner. They never read any more. They give up their music or their painting or whatever accomplishments they had. They drop out of their old clubs and associations and get dull and unattractive and lose all their old graces and charms.

And the excuse they offer for it is the baby. They make a smoky screen of the poor little mite in the cradle, behind which they hide their indolence and general lack of pep and ambition. Also this supermother devotion saves their faces because it sounds grand and noble for them to be devoting themselves to their children.

But in reality, it is only a subterfuge. It is a lazy woman hiding behind the baby's pinafore, because any woman who wants to find time to take care of her children and do everything else desires to do. As is witnessed by the myriads of women who are model mothers and housewives and yet who frequent beauty shops and belong to clubs and play golf and help run the communities in which they live. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl of eighteen very much in love with a boy. We go on parties and every time he gets drunk he asks me to marry him, but when he is sober he doesn't mention it. What would you advise me to do about it? KINDA PUZZLED.

Answer—There is nothing to be "kinda puzzled" about this boy's intentions. He has none, matrimonially speaking. Never take a man seriously until he proposes to you when he is cold sober and asks you to marry him at 11 o'clock in the morning instead of 3 in the night in the light of the moon.

The man who is in love with you only when he is drunk doesn't love you at all. He is merely on a sentimental jag. He's in a frame of mind when he waits to kiss his grandmother, and when he gets over it and comes to his senses he expects the girl to whom he has sworn undying devotion to forget it as he does.

But why do you bother your head about a boy who only makes maudlin love to you when he is drunk? Fate could wish no worse curse on you than the kind of husband such a man makes. Don't even be "kinda puzzled" about him. Turn your thoughts toward some lad who is better husband material. DOROTHY DIX.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1932

Good and evil planetary aspects appear to indicate a day, according to astrology, in which many of the promises made more than a year ago are being fulfilled. Persons who have places in the sun are about to see the best of their planetary condition at this time, which is especially fortunate for successful political candidates. Although the stars smile on men and women who are successful, this is not a day for asking favors, or even seeking help, but for those who are sure of their own strength and ability to do the job. The rule is unlikely for those who owe much money to be repaid, and for those who are in debt, great and small, under this rule. It is well to delay initiative. What is begun under this direction of the stars may meet obstacles and delays. Romance is under a government of the stars of a year of fair good fortune, but

Limit of Taxation Has Been Reached

British Taxpayer Cannot Pay Another Shilling in Pound, Says N. W. Hickling of Shanghai

Life of Government Is Threatened By Action on War Debts Question

"Taxation in Great Britain has gone the limit. The British people could not stand another shilling in the pound on income tax," said Noel W. Hickling, internationally known exchange, button and stock broker of Shanghai, who is visiting the city en route from London to the Orient.

In support of his assertion, Mr. Hickling said the British taxpayer was now paying five shillings in the pound income tax. It was out of the question, he said, that the taxpayer could indefinitely pay out one-fourth of his income in taxes. An increase at this juncture would not be tolerated, and might bring about the defeat of the government for a long time, but there was a limit beyond which they would not go.

ALL HINGES ON DEBTS

"Everything hinges upon the war debts and until that formidable question is settled on a reasonable basis how can the world emerge from the existing economical stagnation?" asked Mr. Hickling.

What Great Britain wants is more breathing space, he said. "A three year moratorium would give her an opportunity to recover her wind."

Mr. Hickling said he had met a large number of people of the United States in his travels and he asserted he had yet to find one who did not

BALDWIN IS FOR

TRADE EXPANSION

Says British Tariffs Should

Be Used to Break Down

Others

Canadian Press

Glasgow, Scotland, Dec. 1.—Rt. Hon.

Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and Conservative Leader in the Commons, told an audience here yesterday evening he believed Great Britain could do a great service to the world by tightening its markets against foreigners and using its restrictions as argument for abandonment of high protection by other countries.

Mr. Baldwin, who was speaking at a meeting of Scottish Conservatives described high and extravagant protection in other countries as the "great curse of international trade."

The United Kingdom's delegation to last summer's Ottawa Economic Conference, he said, had aimed at free trade for the sake of Britain, the Dominions and the world in general.

He maintained the Ottawa Conference had made a great move toward freedom of the empire to watch and develop the situation, and to build the foundations laid at that conference.

HOPES FOR EXPANSION

The Conservative leader urged business men of the United Kingdom to take advantage of the concessions won for them at Ottawa. He said he hoped and believed some of Britain's principal industries would be able to export considerably as a result of the conference agreements.

Mr. Baldwin referred to the certainty of increased manufacturing in the Dominions.

"When once more prosperity comes to the Dominions and they can open their doors to our people, you will see then, for instance in Canada, in-

EMPIRE THEATRE

Another Ralph Lynn riot aptly describes "Mischief," the new British and Dominion picture, now being shown at the Empire Theatre. The story was written by Ben Travers, author of so many delightful comedies. "Mischief" was the film selected for presentation at a midnight charity performance attended by the Prince of Wales, the Duchess of Kent and kept the whole audience, including the Princes, in laughter.

of Educational Patrol

The "Educational Patrol" moving pictures of the Canadian Forestry Association have arrived in Victoria and are now being shown in the centres of the lower part of the island at free performances. The showing of the pictures, which takes an hour and one-half, is accompanied by an explanatory talk by E. V. Ablett, lecturer for the association.

Yesterday evening the pictures were screened and the lecture given before the residents of the Gordon Head district, who gathered in the Gordon Head Hall.

So great was the crowd that gathered Tuesday evening at the Shelbourne Street Hall that the performance had to be repeated to accommodate the numbers.

Mr. Ablett is well known in Victoria. He is a former Victoria boy who became prominent a few years ago in the freight rates battles of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

FEATURE PICTURE

The feature of the pictures being shown in this area during the next two weeks is "Grey Owl and His Natural Haunts." The noted Indian naturalist and writer, Grey Owl, takes part and the scenes show how much he has accomplished with these timid animals, winning their friendship so that they will come at his call and eat out of hand. Especially interesting to young people are the scenes of the

"This moving picture is considered one of the most remarkable nature films taken on the continent and the people of the surrounding districts should avail themselves of this opportunity of seeing it," said Mr. Ablett today.

On the programme also is a big game film made in New Brunswick, outdoor pictures made in B.C., and an animated cartoon.

Speaking of the Canadian Forestry Association, Mr. Ablett explained it is a forest and game conservation society supported voluntarily by some 30,000 citizens. Its educational campaigns in defence of woods, waters and wild life are carried on throughout Canada with practically every community being visited once a year.

AT ROYAL OAK TO-NIGHT

The dates of the film, showings and lectures in the Victoria area, each starting at 8 p.m., are announced as follows:

Thursday, December 1—Royal Oak Hall.

Saturday, December 3—Sidney, Stacey's Hall.

Monday, December 5—Luxton Hall.

Tuesday, December 6—Saanich, Orange Hall.

Wednesday, December 7—Metochin Hall.

Thursday, December 8—To be announced.

Friday, December 9—Cedar Hill, St. Luke's Hall.

Monday, December 12—To be announced.

Tuesday, December 13—Colwood Hall.

Wednesday, December 14—Lake Hill Community Centre.

The pictures were shown at Keating Temperance Hall on Tuesday evening, and proved of intense interest.

Lauder's Money Not

In His Sporrán Now

Associated Press

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 1.—To Sir Harry Lauder, sitting in his dressing-room in a local playhouse it was "simply a case of man's inhumanity to man" when he was robbed of $2,000 from his Scottish wallet in Portland, Oregon, ten days ago.

"It was the furthest time in my life I carried money in my sporran and I never notice on the wristlet it will be the last," said Sir Harry.

He said that if the person who stole the money was an inexperienced crook and if it was his first offence, he would have his forgiveness and he would not prosecute him providing he returned the money.

Dispatches from Portland revealed Joseph Camp Hobbs, twenty-nine, had been arrested as a suspect in the theft.

Hilarious antics, high-speed action, and a bevy of chorus girls provide excellent entertainment in "Speak Easily," Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante's comedy which opened today at the Capitol Theatre.

The two comedians are assisted in their antics by Ruth Selwyn, sparkling in the feminine lead as Pastry Pate, small-time chorus girl.

Edward Sedgwick demonstrated his years of experience with screen comedy in such productions as "Doughboys," and "The Passionate Plumber," by deftly blending all of the situations to obtain the funniest farce he has ever directed.

Also on the same programme is "Night Club Lady."

JUNIOR MUSIC GROUP PLEASES

Victoria Junior Symphony Conducted By Young Members in Novel Programme Valuable Work Being Done
By Harold Taylor Again Evident
Yesterday Evening

A noteworthy departure testified to the progress being made by the Victoria Junior Symphony Orchestra at the concert in the Victoria High School yesterday evening when every selection on the orchestral programme was conducted by one of the young members of this enthusiastic unit.

William Muncy, Carl Benn, Faith Caley and Nahden Young wielded the baton during the evening with surprisingly good results and undoubtedly the musical training and insight they are by so doing will stand them in good stead in the future and justify the action of the hard working and prize-winning "director-in-chief," Harold Taylor.

Mr. Taylor, solely responsible for organizing the Victoria Junior Symphony and making it one of the keenest and most promising musical organizations ever developed here, is again to be congratulated on the excellent programme. The painstaking care and absorbing interest shown by Mr. Taylor in the welfare of the young musicians are steadily accumulating a return in results and recognition.

The Junior Symphony consists of more than fifty players, ranging in age from nine to sixteen, all of whom are enjoying the benefits of playing together at an early and impressionable age and developing that sense of the whole and that ability to co-operate and blend, which are essential to every competent musician. Perhaps the growth of this quality of co-operation is no better illustrated than in the pleasing tone secured from the violins, which are of course the most numerous instruments in an orchestra and require the strictest training and discipline.

STOOD ON CHAIR
A fact that must be commented on is that Mr. Taylor is bringing up his proteges in the best tradition of good music and is making them play compositions quite worthy of older and more experienced musicians. A nine-year-old boy having to stand on a chair to be seen and conducting with sang froid two movements from a Beethoven symphony may quite easily be unique, but this is what Nahden Young did yesterday evening, and the adagio and allegro movements from the first symphony were among the most enjoyable on the programme.

Carl Benn, "cellist," conducted the Mendelssohn "Spring Song," in which Roscoe Groves, clarinetist, had a heavy part, and the stately "Dogs March" by Ross; Faith Caley had the baton for the Beethoven "Egmont Overture," the

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Armstrong, 1664 Dallas Road, celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday, having been married on November 29, 1882, at Barton Church, Penrith, Westmorland, England, by Rev. T. O. Sturkey. Mr. Armstrong is the third son of the late William Armstrong, relieving officer of Penrith, and Mrs. Armstrong is the youngest daughter of the late Edward Carlisle, veterinary surgeon of Penrith. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left their home at Dallas Road, on April 22, 1920, arriving in Victoria on April 22 that year, and have resided in Victoria ever since. They received congratulations from many friends on the attainment of their anniversary.

ROSE SENTENCED ON POKER CHEQUE

Judge Finds He Knew It Was Useless When He Cashed It at Dorman's

Edward Rose to-day told Judge Lampman how in a poker game in a downtown hotel, participated in by a number of young men and taxi owners, whom he had won the $15 cheque, the cashing of which at the store of O. H. Dorman resulted in him being arrested in Nanaimo on a charge of obtaining money and goods by false pretence.

The prosecution, which was in charge of H. A. Beckwith, presented the cheque to the judge, showing it signed by F. E. Penner. Prosecution evidence was that there was no account under that name at the bank upon which the cheque was drawn. Rose, who conducted his own defence, told how he had been assured by the man in the poker game, some of whom had a name similar to that signed on the cheque, that the cheque was good.

Mr. Dorman testified that he had given Rose $4 in goods and $11 in cash for the cheque.

The judge, after hearing the evidence, gave it as his opinion that Rose knew the cheque was not good at the time he tendered it to Mr. Dorman and sentenced Rose to six months in jail with hard labor. The sentence will start from to-day, as Rose is completing a month's term in jail for not paying his bond bill.

Prosecution witnesses besides Mr. Dorman were: Bertman Walton, Floyd M. Pendergast, Leslie Vashon and Henry Ford Jarvis. For the defence, Peter Lohbeck, now serving a term in jail on a wife-assaulting charge, was brought into court under a police guard to testify.

Two one-act plays were given, entitled "Red Roses" and "Rooms to Let." The cast of the first scene was very well received, selections on the harmonica, mandolin and steel guitar being given around the campfire.

Other items on the programme included a comic song by Jack Thorburn, violin selections by Miss Lillian Hawthorn and vocal solos, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and "I Can't Sing the Old Song" were rendered by Mrs. F. M. Shandley, who was dressed in an eighteenth century costume.

The proceeds from the entertainment will be used for the expenses of the church.

NEW ZEALAND IS DESCRIBED

Features of Sister Dominion Are Sketched By C. M.
Croft, Trade Envoy

Outlines Conditions to Rotarians and Manufacturers
at Joint Luncheon

New Zealand's natural assets, its trade conditions and its outlook were sketched in some details before members of the Rotary Club and the Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association by C. M. Croft, Canadian trade commissioner to New Zealand, at a joint luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Mr. Croft expressed great optimism over the possibilities of increased trade between Canada and New Zealand when conditions returned to their normal level.

Mr. Croft sketched in some detail the topographical and geographical features of New Zealand. He remarked that beside the two main islands, the Dominion had jurisdiction over various groups. The two main islands were mountainous. The mountains were volcanic, three of the four main peaks in the North Island still being active.

In the South Island the country was even more hilly, Mr. Croft said. He spoke of the thermal region near Auckland, mass of boiling pools and hot springs.

It was possible, he said, to catch a fish in a river in that area and draw it into a pool without getting it out of the water and watch it cook.

There was a considerable amount of hydro power in the land, he said. The climate was very similar, generally to that of Victoria, with a heavier rainfall in a number of places.

The cities were generally modern with up-to-date streets, railways, banks and other features.

Auckland, with a population of 220,000; Wellington, with a population of 150,000, and Christchurch and Dunedin, were the main cities.

The history of New Zealand was very short. It started as far as Europeans were concerned with the discovery of the islands in the middle of the seventeenth century by James Cook, and the visit by Capt. James Cook in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Settlement did not follow until well into the nineteenth century.

He spoke of the entertaining and colorful Maori history which came down purely from that tribe which landed in that country about 1350.

MAORIS HIGH TYPE
The struggle for existence there had developed the intellect of the Maori. Their ethical code and system of warfare were very high, he said. Mr. Croft told highly entertaining stories of the later.

New Zealand was essentially agricultural or pastoral to-day, he said. Cattle and sheep furnished the main sources of revenue. Grains and fruit also played an important part in the trade, but sheep were most valuable. The people had bred a special animal valuable for wool and mutton alike.

In the year ending December, 1931, the wool clip was valued at $1,000,000, which about 230,000,000 pounds of wool. Timber had been an important asset but only about 17 per cent of the land was under forestation. White pine, black and red pine were important trees in the country.

Fishing areas were extensive, he said, but that did not prevent New Zealanders from appreciating British Columbia canned salmon.

Gold and silver discovered in 1860, were still produced. In 1930 the Dominion and provincial governments and the cities from which the assisted families are drawn. The first families to take advantage of the scheme will leave next week for holdings near Terrace, Creston and in Fraser Valley, the Minister of Lands has announced. Nearly 2,000 applications for assistance are on file.

Cecil Knox Courtney, 1002 Cook Street, has been clerk for the B.C. Legislature for twenty-six years. He is a partner in the law firm of Courtney and Elliott and was born here fifty-eight years ago to-day. Mr. Courtney went through the Boys' Central and Victoria High schools and struck out as a lawyer thirty-five years ago this coming February. He is a bachelor and a member of the Pacific Club.

W. A. Johnston, 245 Menzies Street, who celebrates his birthday to-day is a bookbinder in the provincial government's printing department. He is a member of the Victoria Golf Club, a bowler of note and an amateur gardener. He is an ex-member of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade. He is a bachelor and spends his summers at his country home at Elk Lake.

Alex. L. MacKenzie, one of a large family from Scotland, which chose Victoria as their settling spot, twenty years ago, celebrates his birthday to-day. Mr. MacKenzie is a butcher in his father's store, the Dominion Meat Market, having entered the business after leaving school fifteen years ago. He attended Monterey Avenue School, Oak Bay High, and the old Victoria College here.

Comedy

Much laughter greeted the clever presentation of the hilarious comedy "Jones Versus Jenks," presented by members of the Young People's Society of the Emmanuel Baptist Church on Tuesday evening under the direction of Mrs. O. H. Cogwell, who was presented with a beautiful bouquet in appreciation of her efforts. The comedy centered around a suit for damages brought by Miss Julianna Jones, skilfully played by Miss E. Zala, against her shy but love-smitten swain, Mr. Jenks, played with a nice sense of comedy by James Oakman.

All members of the cast carried their roles well, but special praise is due Judge Henrichshaw, played by Dan Parfitt; Augustus Smart, attorney for the plaintiff, played by Frederick Parfitt; Viola Verplagen, attorney for the defence, played by Miss Maude Oakman; and Mike, the court clerk, portrayed by Archie Murphy, as well as the two principals.

The following artists contributed to the entertainment: Donald Smith, Ross Main, Miss A. Patterson, E. Boulden, A. Webster, J. Daniels, W. Miles, Ormand Marlow, Arthur Partit, E. Oakman, Victor Zala, Miss Rosemary Parfitt, Miss Elsie Rhodes, Miss Rosemary Murphy, Miss Ora-Jessie, Byron Price, Mrs. F. Elers, Miss Phyllis Parfitt, and Deans Dinamore and Honeychurch. George Waites acted as master of ceremonies.

To the skirt of Pipe-major Cameron's pipes, members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonia Society opened in the A.O.F. Hall their special concert and dance commemorating the natal day of their patron saint yesterday evening.

A splendid programme was enjoyed throughout the evening, following the reading of greetings from other branches of the society and kindred groups, some coming from places as distant as Glasgow, Scotland, and Prince Edward Island. Adam Bell, master of ceremonies, read the messages.

The programme was as follows: Song, Mrs. C. Coutts; cornet solo, James Mossop; song, Mark King; humorous reading, Reuben Hardy; song, Mrs. Berne Mayell; song, Robert Morrison; sword dance, Miss Madge Wallace; song, Miss Marjorie Watson; song, Jack Bell; and song, W. Fyfe. Mrs. Sneddon, Jack Smith, J. Finkel and Miss Winn acted as accompanists. Following the concert refreshments were served and the evening was concluded with a dance.

DEATH SUMMONS
W. M. SIMPSON

William Simpson passed away yesterday at the family residence, 624 Cornwall Street, aged seventy-one years. Born in Barnsley, Yorkshire, England, in 1861, Mr. Simpson came to Canada sixty-three years ago, and for the last forty-seven years has been a resident of British Columbia. He was a merchant in Vancouver and Nelson for many years before retiring and coming to Victoria to reside four and a half years ago.

He is survived by his widow here, one brother, John, Burnaby, B.C., and two sisters, Mrs. D. Ewart, Ottawa, and Mrs. C. E. Raley, Burnaby. Funeral services will be held from Christ Church Cathedral on Friday at 2 o'clock. Dean Quinlan officiating. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Charles H. Smith, 531 Joffre Street, a member of the Esquimalt Council for seven years preceding 1931, will seek a seat on that board, he announced this morning. Councillor R. A. "Bob" Anderson last week stated he would seek re-election. They are the only two candidates in the field for three vacant seats.

With ex-councillor Smith's announcement came a definite statement from Councillor George Brooker that he would not attempt to return to the council unless "something extraordinary" cropped up before Christmas.

It was generally believed that Councillor George Brooker, whose term also expires this year, would not stand again.

While definite word was not available, it was indicated James Painter would stand again for the police commission.

Both Reeve Albert Heald and Ex-Reeve Alex Lockley are probable contestants for the re-election.

ASKS LAWYERS FOR EXPLANATION

Judge Critical of Legal Men Who Get Trial Adjourned,

Cost to Taxpayers in Double Fees For List of Witnesses
Is Emphasized

Judge Lampman from the bench at the end of the trial of Edward Rose to-day made a public statement criticizing lawyers who get cases adjourned and then do not appear to appear in court or make any explanation of their action.

The judge said such action puts the taxpayers to needless expense, which in the case before him to-day amounted to considerable as there was a list of witnesses, who had to be paid fees for two days, and the time of police and officials.

"Mr. Oswald Bolton appeared before me on behalf of Mr. Wilfred Hartley when this case was last called for trial and asked for an adjournment until to-day so he could appear," said the judge, drawing attention to the fact that neither of these lawyers had appeared in court to-day. "I certainly think that when counsel get a case adjourned and then do not appear, the court is entitled to some explanation."

The judge went on to express his surprise at such professional behavior and emphasized the extra cost to which it put the country.

H. A. Beckwith, who was prosecuting counsel in the case, arose and said he had felt like directing the judge's attention to the situation which he had just criticized.

Boy Scouts Again Establish Shop to Help Children of Needy at Christmas

In the heart of the city, at 1220 Government Street, Boy Scouts of Victoria are again doing their good work of assembling and distributing toys for less fortunate children living in houses where Christmas cheer and festivities will be absent unless outside help is forthcoming.

The Scout Toy Shop is now open and an urgent appeal is sent to all kind-hearted citizens to send in as many toys, old and new, as possible. A crew of Scouts is on hand to do repairing, repainting and remodeling work, which is in charge of a special committee under the chairmanship of Major J. B. Harding.

Operation of the toy shop will be the same as last year, with the exception that it will work in conjunction with the Christmas Exchange, which organization will furnish the names of families to receive toys.

Children in the city who possess broken toys or ones for which they no longer have any use are requested to telephone E 0683, E 7841 or E 6848 and the toys will be called for. For those who can bring their toys right to the shop, the establishment will be open from 9.30 a.m. until 5.30 p.m. every day but Saturday, and from 9.30 a.m. until 2.30 p.m. on that day.

Officials of the Scout Association as well as the Scouts themselves, are working unceasingly toward the success of their campaign and it is hoped their efforts will meet with an adequate public response.

Teachers of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Entertain at Social

Officers and teachers of St. Paul's Presbyterian Sunday School on Tuesday evening were hosts to a large number of parents at a social gathering in the church hall. Thomas Humphries, chairman, welcomed the guests and referred to the far-reaching influence of the Sunday school on the young life of any community.

Rev. G. F. Cox congratulated the school on its increased attendance and told of the success of the training classes conducted by him. He urged parents to co-operate with the Sunday school teacher, as the home and school must work together if best results were to be attained.

Miss Margaret Dickson, Miss Jean McGowan, Alex. Stewart and Fred Arndt contributed to the musical part of the programme. Refreshments were served by a committee of which Mrs. A. Stewart was convener.

For Municipal Post in Esquimalt

Charles H. Smith, 531 Joffre Street, a member of the Esquimalt Council for seven years preceding 1931, will seek a seat on that board, he announced this morning. Councillor R. A. "Bob" Anderson last week stated he would seek re-election. They are the only two candidates in the field for three vacant seats.

With ex-councillor Smith's announcement came a definite statement from Councillor George Brooker that he would not attempt to return to the council unless "something extraordinary" cropped up before Christmas.

It was generally believed that Councillor George Brooker, whose term also expires this year, would not stand again.

While definite word was not available, it was indicated James Painter would stand again for the police commission.

Both Reeve Albert Heald and Ex-Reeve Alex Lockley are probable contestants for the re-election.

N.H.L. Teams Put On Heaviest Scoring Evening Since Opening

"Ossie" Osmundson Appears To Be Making Grade With Rangers

Dr. Alekhine, World Chess Champion, Has Had Great Career

Members of Lower Island Football Board Finally Give Up "Ghost"

THE NATIONAL Hockey League had a close race and a somewhat surprising score list after the three-game struggle on Thursday evening, in which the leaders of the United States section, Boston Bruins, took a sound licking from the New York Rangers and two Canadian section teams, Montreal Maroons and Ottawa Senators, marked up victories over U.S. rivals. It was the heaviest evening of scoring so far in the major circuit, with twenty-two goals rattling the nets behind the various goalies.

Victorians were much pleased with the showing of "Ossie" Osmundson against Boston. The former member of the Victoria Cubs in the Pacific Coast Hockey League worked through for a goal and gave an assist for another. The big forward appears to be making the grade with the Rangers this season. He was given a chance by Lester Patrick last year but after a couple of games was farmed out to the Springfield Indians to gain more experience. Osmundson, when with Victoria, displayed plenty of ability, packing a deadly shot and boasting a fair turn of speed. His big handicap here was his clumsiness, and that is something that may be overcome through a finer knowledge of the game.

With Earl Seibert back on the defense and Osmundson and Ott Heller, defense rookie, showing up well along with his other regulars, Lester Patrick has a formidable club this year. The two Cook brothers and Boucher appear just as effective as ever while the veteran Ching Johnson is still proving a star on the defense. This chap Aitkenhead also appears to be making the grade as a big-time goalie.

Dr. Alexander Alekhine, world chess champion, boasts one of the most unusual careers of an athlete in any line of sport. A native of Russia, he is just forty years of age, and is younger than Joe Capablanca, great Cuban whom Alekhine defeated for the world title. It was while pursuing his studies at a law school that he acquired a knowledge of chess. So well did he take to it that at sixteen he had won his mastership in the great St. Petersburg tournament, finishing third behind Dr. Lasker and Capablanca respectively.

That summer Alekhine went to Germany and was unfortunate in being interned at the outbreak of the Great War. During the spring of 1915 he escaped and joined the Russian army. In 1921 Alekhine resumed his international career as a master player, for he participated in the congresses at Tiber, Budapest and The Hague. There are few important places on the map that an active chess expert does not visit. After that he missed very few tournaments, playing four times in 1922, three times in 1923 and 1924 and five times in 1926. The two great gatherings in New York in 1924 and 1927 found him among those present. Then came the crowning achievement of his life, the decisive defeat of Capablanca, hitherto invincible, which made a new and stirring chapter of chess history at Buenos Aires.

After striving to keep their heads above water since the start of the football season, the five members of the Lower Island Football Association gave up the "ghost" on Tuesday evening, by sending in their resignations en bloc to the British Columbia Football Association. They gave as their reasons, lack of co-operation from the B.C.F.A. and poor attendance at local matches. No doubt the financial body has got its hands full bucking the Pacific Coast League in Vancouver and has little time to bother about Victoria's troubles. Lack of attendance for games sponsored by the L.I.F.A. can be laid at the door of the local Coast League. The latter has the four leading teams and as a result are drawing the crowds. The outlay league is offering the better brand of football and that is what interests Mr. Pan.

Battaglia In Return Battle With Devlin

Winnipeg and San Francisco Middleweight Stars Will Clash in Madison Square Garden Dec. 9 Over Ten Rounds; Pair Drew in First Meeting

New York, Dec. 1.—The "natural" for which fistiana has been pining—a return bout between Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, and Chick Devlin, San Francisco—is back on the Madison Square Garden programme to-day.

OUT OF ACTION

Bulwark of Australian Offensive Lost; English Seek to Regain "Ashes"

Bradman May Play In Other Matches

English Team in First Class Shape; Much Local Interest Over Series

Sydney, N.S.W., Dec. 1.—The cricket classics, the test matches between England and Australia, open here to-morrow and on the eve of the first game Australia has been dealt a severe blow. Don Bradman, celebrated Australian batsman who has broken most cricket records, has been forced out by illness.

Bradman, however, may get into some of the remainder of the five matches which will decide whether Australia is to hold the mythical "ashes" it won on the English playing field two seasons ago.

GREAT CLASSIC In an event Sydney becomes the centre of the cricket world as the tables of the touring M.C.C. team, fit after a month's campaigning in exhibition games on Australian fields, and a strong Australian eleven take the field for the opening match.

M.C.C. have not lost any of their protest games, but came within an inch of defeat by an all-Australian eleven.

Upon Bradman was based the whole Australian offensive. The youth Don amazed experts in England by batting an average of 139 an innings in the five test matches of 1930. In the last year's South Africa test series he had an average of 201.

The Australian team will not be caught "flat-footed," however, for in the balance of their selected players they have a great combination of youth and experience. There are eight members of the victorious team of 1930 and three others who proved their worth in the South Africa series. The remaining man, Leslie Nagel, a newcomer to first class cricket, may well prove a thorn in the side of the Englishmen. A bowler of remarkable accuracy with moderate speed, Nagel took eight M.C.C. wickets last week for Australia with loss of only thirty-two runs. This was on a very tricky pitch, however, and it remains to be seen whether he can repeat.

CAPTAINS ENGLISH D. R. Jardine, an old Oxford blue, captain of the English M.C.C. He has played against Australia many times since 1921 and during the 1928 tour of Australia had six centuries. With him on the M.C.C. side is a bevy of splendid experience, headed by Max Bailey, brilliant Indian student at Oxford, who holds the variety record of 236 not out against Cambridge. R. E. S. Wyatt, who has a record of more than 1,500 runs in each of the last six seasons, and H. W. Sutcliffe, famous first-wicket batsman, who has played in eighteen out of the last twenty matches with Australia.

Max Bailey, noted Sussex veteran, Harold Larwood, fast bowler from Nottinghamshire, and Hedley Verity will bear the brunt of the M.C.C. bowling. With the exception of the day that Nagel ran Burrell and took eight wickets for thirty-two runs, the visiting M.C.C. at no time were hard pressed by the Australian teams. They were decidedly ahead of both a West Australian team and a combined Australian team on two occasions when the matches were drawn. Against South Australia they compiled 534 for nine against 290 and 216 for the Australian team. Victoria was also decisively trounced, the M.C.C. getting 408 for nine against 231 and 94.

O'Reilly, Hird, McCabe and Grimmett will shoulder the Australian bowling. Of the 142 test matches played England has won forty-seven and Australia has won fifty, the remaining twenty-seven being drawn. England has had more success in Australia, for she has won twenty-eight games played there and only nineteen games played in England.

Victorians will take a much keener interest in the test series this year, owing to the fact that a number of the players representing Australia performed in Victoria last summer as members of the touring Australian team. The tourists played three matches in Victoria and all the fixtures drew large attendances. The touring players also engaged in a match at Dunca.

Black Hawks Return To Chicago Stadium

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Chicago Black Hawks will return to the Chicago Stadium for the balance of the National Hockey League season, Sunday, December 4, when they will meet New York Rangers.

Major Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks and the Stadium Corporation, represented by Sidney N. Strotz, yesterday reached a satisfactory financial arrangement to end their eight-month battle over contract terms. McLaughlin claimed the stadium broke their five-year contract, which had a year to run, by not giving him preference in dates. The stadium contended McLaughlin broke the pact by moving to the Coliseum at the start of the season.

The question of a share in territorial rights held by McLaughlin, for which the stadium offered $100,000, was not involved in yesterday's settlement.

FORMER WORLD CHAMP FIGHTS TO-NIGHT

Holder of the world junior lightweight championship four years, who will meet Alvin Morgan, Victoria, in the 12-round main event of to-night's card at the Pacific Stadium arena under the auspices of the Victoria Boxing Club. Both boys are in tip-top condition and a first-class exhibition is anticipated. Morgan will enter the ring at 125 pounds, while Davies will weigh between 137 and 138. In the six-round semi-wind-up Jumbo Davies will tangle with Frankie Holland, Spokane. This pair battled in a thrilling draw in Vancouver a few weeks ago. Four other good preliminaries will complete the card. The main event will be refereed by Joe Hawley, while Al Davies, Ted Beales, D. W. Davies and Louis Callum will handle the others. Al McKinnon and Tommy Stevenson will be the judges. Len Oliver, Rebel Mowatt and "Slim" Tait will act as timekeepers. The first bout will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Saanich United And Navy In Soccer Lead

Former Secure 1 to 1 Draw With Hearts to Move Into Tie With Idle Sailors For Wednesday League Leadership; Hudson's Bay Win 6 to 0

Securing a 1 to 1 draw with the Hearts yesterday afternoon at the Heywood Avenue grounds the Saanich United eleven moved into a tie with the Navy for leadership of the Wednesday Football League. Playing with only ten men to eight the Hudson's Bay chieftains were able to win the Empire Hotel at lower Beacon Hill. Both grounds were in terrible condition from the heavy rains and the brand of football suffered as a result.

For the first fifteen minutes of the Saanich-Hearts fixture the latter forced the play and it was only the fine work of Rowe, Saanich goalie, that kept them from scoring. On several occasions Brown, L. Bryant and Preston got in close for good shots but Rowe turned them all aside.

Twenty minutes after the start Saanich broke away on a quick forward movement and Williams, right wing, tricked his way through to beat McMillan for the opening counter. The Hearts returned to the offensive and only five minutes had elapsed when they despatched the score again. L. Bryant heading the ball past Rowe.

Play in the second half was evenly divided with the players being harassed by the downpour. Plenty of mauling was witnessed but Goalies Rowe and McMillan managed to keep their nets clear for the remainder of the match.

Albert Newson refereed. Saanich United—Rowe, T. Price, White, Williams, Moir, Love, Wyatt, Stoller, Kelman, Obe and Kennedy. Hearts—McMillan, Clarke, Champion, A. McBride, Hickman, M. McBride, Brown, L. Bryant, Preston, Jack and Newell.

Babe Herman Goes To Cubs

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 1.—Sidney Well, president of the Cincinnati Reds, announced yesterday evening that Babe Herman, his hard-hitting right fielder, has been traded to Chicago Cubs for four players and a cash consideration.

GRID CHAMPIONS DECIDED IN EAST

Malvern Grads and St. Thomas Yellow Jackets Capture Ontario Titles

Toronto, Dec. 1.—The Ontario Rugby Football Union completed its list of 1932 champions yesterday when intermediate and junior titles were crowned.

At Woodstock, the Malvern Grads of Toronto, and the Sarnia Cedens played a sudden-death game on neutral ground with the Grads hammering out a 9 to 2 decision.

At St. Thomas, another sudden-death affair saw the hometown Yellow Jackets roll up an impressive 23 to 3 victory over Toronto Invictus. Sarnia seniors, champion of that division in the O.R.F.U., passed from the picture two weeks ago at the hands of Hamilton Tigers in the Eastern Canada playoffs. The Tigers hold the Interprovincial Union title and will meet Regina in the east vs. west Dominion final Saturday.

The teams follow: Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton; Coats; Clark; Woodley; Davis; Oakman; Nichols; Fish; Bentley and Collier. Empire Hotel—Wensley; Hawnsey; Stokes; Scott; Welham; Gould; Johnson and Chaworth.

Each scored one. The Bays led 3 to 0 at half-time. Arthur Johnson refereed.

International Hockey League Clubs in Furious Battle to Scoreless Draw

London, Ont., Dec. 1.—In a gruelling seventy-minute International Hockey League game, Windsor Bulldogs and London Tecumseh battled to a scoreless draw here yesterday evening. The single point gained by Glen Loughlin's Teds undisputed possession of the leadership of the league.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 1.—A superb shot from the stick of Norman Gainer in the third period gave Springfield Indians a 2 to 1 victory over New Haven Eagles in a Canadian-American Hockey League game here yesterday evening.

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—Exhibiting their snappiest brand of hockey of the season, Philadelphia Arrows defeated Quebec Braves 3 to 1 yesterday evening to become sole occupants of first place in the Canadian-American League standings.

Duluth, Dec. 1.—Duluth Hornets lost their first game of the American Hockey Association season yesterday evening, the St. Louis Flyers, scoring a 2 to 1 victory over the Hornets.

Herbert Jacques Heads U.S. Golf

New York, Dec. 1.—Herbert Jacques, Boston, a track star twenty years ago at Harvard, was nominated yesterday to succeed H. H. Ramsey as president of the United States Golf Association. The formal election will take place at the annual meeting here on January 7.

English Net Stars Defeat Brazilians

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 1.—The visiting British tennis stars, Edward Avory and John S. Oliff, continued to advance in the international tennis tournament yesterday at the expense of a pair of Brazil's leading players. Avory took a hard three-set match from Ricardo Pernambuco, 6-4, 8-6, 6-3, while Oliff defeated Nelson Cruz, 6-2, 6-1, 6-7.

All-Western Grid Team Featured By Great Line Power

Mythical Could Throw 200 Pounds at Opponents From Almost Any Point

Better Balance Only Improvement

Front Line All Regina Players With One Exception; Campbell Great Snap

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—With the exception of one man, a new recruit in St. John's ranks who played with the Riders last year, the front line chosen by sports writers for the Canadian Press all-western rugby team is composed entirely of Regina players, who are traveling east this week to fight Hamilton Tigers for the Canadian senior crown.

The line can throw 200 pounds at an opposing team from almost every point, possesses blocking, tackling and plunging power enough, and boasts a star snap who has an uncanny eye for a pickup's whereabouts. It might be better balanced.

Jersey Campbell, snap of the honor outfit, started with Regina Junior Pats as a half and failed to make the grade. In 1928 he joined the Roughriders and someone discovered he had hands, shifted to snap, he immediately became a star and when the forward pass was introduced he did the passing. Always first man down the stretch, he is a deadly tackler, although his five feet nine inches of height weighs only 158. In addition he recovers an outstanding percentage of fumbles from either team.

The inside weigh an even 200 pounds each and every ounce hits the opposing line accurately. Bill Mjogdalen is a recent import from across the U.S. He played four years with University of North Dakota before coming north this summer. Jack "Tiny" Thompson, six-foot blocker from Winnipeg, has only been with the Riders three years but it was Al Ritchie's coaching that year, before coming to Winnipeg, he played successfully with Vics, Tigers and St. John's.

Chunky, tough and heavy, the two middles are rated fine plungers and blockers on their respective teams. Johnny Gurnik is twenty-five years old, stands only five feet seven inches on the scales, but tips it at 190 pounds. He played with Regina Tigers before he joined the Roughriders four years ago. Albert Urmess also played with Tigers before he graduated to senior company, where he is a veteran of five years under Ritchie and a regular middle-winger for the last three years. Moving to Winnipeg this year, Albert came out with St. John's and immediately clinched a middle-wing berth.

Nick Busch and Bill Hiltz are the outsiders on the mythical team. Nick started as a half when he was a led of sixteen, and Reginald Ross, who won the Saskatchewan championship. He went east with the Pats in 1928 for the first Canadian junior final, which they lost. In Roughriders company since 1926, he developed into a smart end. He is the lightest man on the honor team, weighing a mere 150 pounds, but his mate, Bill Hiltz, weighs 210. He is a newcomer to Canadian play, having played football with Mjogdalen at North Dakota.

Vittorio Campolo Suffers Knockout

Barcelona, Spain, Dec. 1.—Kid Tunero, Cuban middleweight, outpointed Dino Tampesti of Italy in a ten-round bout here yesterday. Tunero weighed 154 and Tampesti 159 pounds. Another Cuban, George Morejon, knocked out the Italian, Vittorio Campolo, in the eighth round of a ten-rounder.

Turville's Chances Of Playing Are Slim

Backfield Ace of Hamilton Tigers Still Hobbling Around With Canadian Gridiron Final Against Regina Roughriders Only Two Days Away

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—With one eye trained on the hobbling figure of Frank Turville, the galloping football king of the law courts, Hamilton's gridiron faithful to-day waited for the foe from the west to put in an appearance.

Al Ritchie, thin-faced master mind of football on the prairies, will bring his Regina Roughriders to town to-morrow morning, more than twenty-four hours before they line-up against Hamilton Tigers in the classic sectional battle that will decide the regular Canadian championship for 1932.

Turville, long-limbed barrier who played the leading role in every Tiger triumph this season, helped them over to stand up there and take plenty more if necessary.

HOW MORGAN AND DAVIES MEASURE UP

Former Will Have Advantage in Weight, Reach For To-night's Bout

When Alvin Davies steps into the ring against Ted Morgan this evening he will have an edge over the former champion in every department except weight, reach and waist measurement. Here's how the two boys stack up:

Morgan	Davies
Age	21
Weight	138 lbs.
Height	5 ft. 7 ins.
Reach	70 1/2 ins.
Neck	15 1/2 ins.
Chest (normal)	37 ins.
Chest (expanded)	41 ins.
Waist	31 ins.
Biceps	13 ins.
Forearm	13 1/2 ins.
Thigh	23 ins.
Shin	22 1/2 ins.
Ankle	8 1/4 ins.

BANCROFT IS NAMED PILOT

Former Star Shortstop Will Manage Minneapolis in American Association

Minneapolis, Dec. 1.—Managerial talent trained under the big top again was assured the Minneapolis ball club yesterday with the signing of Dave Bancroft to pilot the 1933 champions of the American Association.

Like his predecessor, Donie Bush, who goes back to the majors as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Bancroft formerly was one of baseball's shortstop celebrities, having starred particularly with the Philadelphia Nationals and the New York Giants. As a big league veteran, Bancroft played with and managed the Boston Braves. Later he was with Brooklyn two years. Bancroft has been unattached since he left the Giants last season, coincident with Bill Terry's elevation to the pilot's berth vacated by John McGraw.

M'CREADY DRAWS WITH GLEN MUNN

New York, Dec. 1.—Earl McCready, former farmer of Annet, Sask., wrestled to a thirty-minute draw decision with Glen Munn, Nebraska, at Ridgewood Grove yesterday evening. It was close and exciting grappling from start to finish.

The Canadian weighed 230, one pound more than his opponent.

Prairie Amateur Joins the Pros

Saskatoon, Sask., Dec. 1.—Northern Saskatchewan last winter amateur boxer star late yesterday evening when "Squid" Hard-attached his name to a contract, binding him to perform with Joe Gangulish's Crescents in the Western Canadian Professional Hockey League.

A right winger, tipping the scales around 165 pounds and with youth on his side he should prove a valuable addition to the club. He broke into senior amateur hockey with Yorkton Terriers. Last year he performed with North Battleford Beavers in the Northern Saskatchewan League.

A BAD SPRAIN

Turville's ankle was badly sprained in the variety tussle last Saturday. If he plays at all it is unlikely to be for more than a few minutes.

Roughriders are in perfect shape for the final and are Tigers, with the exception of Turville. Coach Billy Hughes has given no hint who will do Hamilton's punting, but the task is almost certain to go to Ray Broadway and Danny Gardner. Gardner also will do most of the passing. A form of attack Hughes may rely on more than he has all season.

The Bengals are confident they can stop whatever form of attack Roughriders use. They have knocked down the passes of Montreal's Hal Bayinger and they do not expect Curt Shave to throw them any more accurately than the big boy from Syracuse. The Saskatchewan men have been given a pretty thorough mauling by Montreal, Argonauts, Sarnia and Varsity, but they expect to stand up there and take plenty more if necessary.

Fractional Gains In Wheat Prices On Outside Strength

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Unusual strength at Chicago was mainly responsible for fairly substantial gains in wheat prices here to-day, the close showing futures $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher. Liverpool and Buenos Aires were also firm, and export from Canada was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels.

December, closed at 45, May at 40 and July at 30 $\frac{1}{2}$.
The southern market was up about 2 cents at the high points partly on the strength of bullish Argentine news, but largely as the result of a better feeling created by the debt situation.

Vancouver was credited with most of the large Canadian export, Greece, Germany and other European countries bought fair amounts and chartering of tonnage at the Pacific Coast was reported to be quite active.

An official report from the Argentine indicated rains had been excessive in important areas during October and the new wheat crop in these areas was poor as a result. Other news included the fact that Russia shipped only 500,000 bushels of wheat this week.

Demand for cash wheat was unchanged from yesterday. A fair export business was worked in oats and barley out of Vancouver overnight, but interest in cash coarse grain during the morning was light and confined to a little inquiry for oats for export.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Wheat: Wheat too on a much better tone to-day than has been seen for some time and a good export business in Manitoba was worked from seaboard, the amount being estimated at around 2,000,000 bushels. Early prices advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ cent, the market holding firm at the advance during the first period when there was good buying for seaboard account going on despite the fact that offerings were heavy in the upturn by way of hedging sales and profit-taking. Bullish news was coming out of the Argentine and it would seem that considerable damage has taken place in that crop due to unfavorable weather.

In the cash market there was not much doing with little changing hands. There are several boats leading at the head of the lakes but shippers appear to have their requirements well in hand. Offerings were not pressing but shippers could get what they wanted at about unchanged prices. There were no deliveries on the December contract due to the premiums that prevail. No. 1 northern being $\frac{1}{2}$ over, No. 2 northern $\frac{3}{4}$ cents over and No. 3 northern $\frac{1}{2}$ cents over. Bullish reports are also being received from the winter wheat belt and it is reported that fully 10,000,000 acres have been seriously affected by the droughty conditions that have prevailed this fall.

Supplies in this country are heavy and the main thing is to reduce these stocks, but at the same time we believe a bullish situation is developing for the future, therefore we favor the buying side for the long pull.

Winnipeg closed $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher.

Coarse grains: These markets were all higher in sympathy with the trend of wheat and corn. There was export inquiry for barley and rye and some business was possibly worked but it was not confirmed. There was a better domestic demand for all grains.

Oats closed $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, barley 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 higher and rye 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 higher. Higher 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ higher.

Liverpool due $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher on Winnipeg.

Making Plans For Ocean Air Routes TO EXPLORE ODD PLACES

Young Chicago Man Sails For Orient on Way to Penang on Six Months' Trip

Col. Lindbergh Discusses Ways and Means For Regular Flights Across Both Oceans

Transpacific Route Between America and Orient Will Be Via Honolulu

New York, Dec. 1.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, with officials of the Pan-American Airways, unfolded plans yesterday for transpacific aviation by which they hope to dominate intercontinental air transportation.

Within two years, this air line plans to set out upon oceanic schedules a fleet of four-motored, all-metal, monoplane "clippers" carrying 20 passengers.

As were the "clippers" of sailing days, these air liners, built for efficiency rather than for size, will be sent into the routes to gain for American aviation the supremacy in passenger and pay load traffic.

Their design contemplates use on all present ocean routes: America to Europe, via Newfoundland-to-Ireland and Bermuda-to-Azores; and across the Pacific with a stop in Hawaii.

Announcement that contracts had been awarded for two types of these ships was made by J. T. Trippe, president of Pan-American.

Sitting cross-legged on an office floor, Trippe, Colonel Lindbergh amplified the announcement with discussion on the design of the airships. This was the flyer's first meeting with newspapermen in more than six months.

The ships will be built to cover a distance up to 2,400 miles at one hop, this being the longest jump in the transpacific travel.

They will be of the "flying boat" type, smaller in size than the DO-X, but larger than any fleet of ships now in commercial service.

WINTER SERVICE NOW IN EFFECT

The winter service of the Canadian National steamships is now in operation and will remain in effect until the spring schedule commences May 15, according to Thomas Louden, acting general superintendent. A weekly service will be operated between Vancouver and Seattle and Anyox, with a fortnightly service between Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands.

SEATTLE REPORT will continue to operate every Monday evening at 8 o'clock, sailing at Powell River, Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert, en route to Seattle.

The Queen Charlotte service is between Vancouver, the islands, Prince Rupert and any ports. SE. Prince Rupert will be in effect until the week of W. S. Cahill, traffic manager of the port of Seattle, who presided at yesterday's meeting, said, when authorization will be made to compel adherence to existing rates.

College girls, an inquiry shows, are heavier than their progenitors. Which may induce the sweet young things of the coming generation to alter their views toward mind and body.

St. Conte di Savoia, en route to New York, Dec. 1.—The officers and many of the passengers aboard this new Italian liner were hoping for rough instead of calm weather yesterday as the ship pulled out of Genoa on her maiden voyage to New York.

They were curious about the performance of the gyroscopic stabilizers which are expected to permit the vessel to ride the heaviest sea on a level keel, thus eliminating the possibility of seasickness and generally reducing the discomforts of ocean travel.

Dr. Herbert Lee Seward, professor of mechanical engineering at Yale, was perhaps the most curious of all. He is acting as the aerial observer on behalf of the Italian line and the Sperry Company, American makers of the stabilizer invented by the late Dr. Elmer Sperry of Brooklyn, N.Y., the whole world of engineering is keenly interested in the test of the "roll proof" machinery. Dr. Seward said.

Genoa, Dec. 1.—Fascist Italy consigned her second great passenger ship to the ocean highways yesterday when, amid a tumult of cheers, the 48,000-ton Conte di Savoia steamed away for New York.

Files of black shirt militia bade the vessel farewell with right hands raised in the Roman salute, and thousands of civilians lined the waterfront. A band on the wharf struck up the Fascist hymn as she edged out into the bay.

The Conte di Savoia follows close on the heels of the 50,000-ton Rex, which inaugurated the Italia Line's new "super-fast" service to New York in September. Both ships are capable of twenty-seven knots. Their scheduled time for the crossing in six and a half days.
